Passengers Okay After Foamy Ride

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — For a tense hour a Delta airlines jet carrying 94 persons circled to use up fuel. Then the pilot, Capt. J. D. Irvin of Atlanta, Ga., set down so smoothly that the lack of one landing gear was hardly noticeable.

His four-engine Convair 880 was diverted to Carswell Air Force Base here Friday night after Irvin discovered the jammed right gear near the end of a flight from New York to Houston via Atlanta.

Ground crewmen coated the 12,000-foot main runway with foam and the pilot, a 20-year veteran with Delta, brought the huge craft down at 11:22 p.m.

Sparks flew for 1,000 yards as a right engine pod scraped. The plane veered slightly to the right but stayed on the runway.

A brief burst of flame was extinguished almost as soon as it appeared. The plane apparently suffered little damage.

"I've had them to come down harder on the landing approach than this one," said Edward Lumen, a passenger from Houston. "I can't compliment the pilot more on such a great job. It was really a smooth landing."

The pilot reported the 88 passengers remained calm and responded well to instructions, sliding down emergency exit chutes as soon as the craft skidded to a halt.

Cambodians Charged With Viet Nam 'Cattle-Rustling'

Soldiers Cross Border, Battle Briefly; Kidnap One Civilian

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Uniformed Cambodian soldiers crossed the border into South Viet Nam, invaded a farming community and fought a brief battle with Vietnamese militiamen near the frontier, a Vietnamese military spokesman charged today.

He said 50 Cambodian soldiers penetrated 500 yards inside Vietnamese territory late Friday, kidnaped a Vietnamese civilian and stole 14 cattle. They returned into Cambodia after a short clash with a local militia unit near the frontier, the spokesman said.

The border-crossing was announced as fresh fighting broke out this afternoon in War Zone C between units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and entrenched Viet Cong.

Two Air Raids

The fighting erupted a few hours after Guam-based B52 bombers staged two raids today on Viet Cong positions in War Zone C about 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

The giant Stratoforts, in a third raid today, also bombed North Vietnamese training areas and gun positions 20 miles northwest of Plei Djereng Special Forces camp in the central highlands.

Except for the new fighting in the War Zone C sector in Tay Ninh Province, only minor ground action was reported.

For a ninth consecutive day, monsoon rains and low ceilings sharply cut U.S. air strikes over North Viet Nam.

U.S. pilots flew only 32 strike missions, concentrating all of them against targets about 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone and in the southern end of North Viet Nam.

Just two miles north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. destroyers Hamner and John R. Craig bombarded an inland radar site and reported starting several secondary fires. The same 7th Fleet destroyers an hour later attacked 12 cargo boats on the North Vietnamese coast and reported destroying three and heavily damaging three more.

A U.S. announcement said the cargo boats were on the beach along the coast in the vicinity of the radar site. The two destroyers earlier destroyed or damaged 26 cargo barges in a 10-mile stretch of North Vietnamese coast.

The offshore bombardment was part of the Navy's Operation "Traffic Cop," a month-old drive to halt movement of Communist supplies to South Viet Nam by sea.

In the Cambodian border incident, a Vietnamese spokesman said the Cambodian soldiers entered the farming community of Thanh Tri, 52 miles west of Saigon in Kien Tuong Province. The spokesman said they remained in Vietnamese territory about one hour.

In the short clash with a platoon of Vietnamese popular forces troops 300 yards from the border, the local militiamen suffered light casualties, the spokesman said. Cambodian casualties were not known.

The Vietnamese spokesman said no formal protest has been made. U.S. military spokesmen made no comment on the incident. Some allied officials viewed the intrusion as a case of frontier cattle-rustling, similar to previous border raids.

Linda Pierson, 18, of Dayton, across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, whose body was found near the river last night, had been strangled and raped, according to Campbell County, Ky., officials. Cincinnati police still haven't solved five strangulation-rape cases involving older women in the past year. They did not know if the girl's death and the Cincinnati slayings are related. Large SAC Bomber Lost At Hayward

HAYWARD (AP) — A supersonic jet bomber crashed in a remote, wooded area of northern Wisconsin minutes after an aerial refueling Friday night. There were no signs of survivors among the nine persons aboard.

Witnesses said the Strategic Air Command's eight-engine B52 crashed and exploded about 6:30 p.m. about seven miles east of nearby Stone Lake.

The Air Force said the plane carried no weapons and had left Barksdale Air Force Base, La., about 3 p.m. on a routine combat training mission. The crew was attached to the 2nd Bomb Wing at Barksdale.

The craft had successfully completed a refueling in air and had communicated with all of its radio checkpoints only a few minutes before contact was lost, said a spokesman at Duluth, Minn., Air Force Base, which sent a rescue team to the crash site.

"I happened to be looking right at it when it crashed. There was a terrific explosion," said Roger Langhamm, a Wisconsin Conservation Department employe.

Langhamm said he and a half dozen friends and hunting companions made their way to the scene, more than a mile from the nearest road.

"We saw several bodies," he said. "There were just fragments of the plane, although the engines were more or less intact."

Little Chance For Okay of China Study

U.N. Assembly Gives Cold Shoulder To Long-Range Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A proposal to set up a high-level study group to try to solve the 16-year-old China question appeared today to have little chance of winning U.N. General Assembly approval.

The highly touted plan got a cold reception when Italy's former Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni outlined it before the assembly Friday at the start of the annual debate on whether to give Peking the Chinese seat.

Both Nationalist China and supporters of Peking brushed aside the plan which is viewed as a long-range maneuver to seat both regimes in the world forum.

Oppose Study

Ambassador Halim Budo of Albania, which is considered Red China's voice in the United Nations, labeled the proposal a delaying tactic. He told reporters "there is no need" for any study group.

Ambassador Liu Chieh, chief of the Nationalist delegation, said tersely: "We are opposed to any kind of a study group, because there is nothing to study as far as we are concerned."

Big-power reaction ranged from chilly to noncommittal.

Soviet Ambassador Nikiai T. Fedorenko was reported to have rejected the plan as an effort to delay the admission of Red China.

The United States earlier had been reported in accord with the plan. But after it was unveiled, a U.S. spokesman said that comment would be premature until it appears in the form of a resolution.

Italy, which has the largest Communist party of any nation outside the Iron Curtain, has been under pressure at home to figure out some solution agreeable to the Reds. The Italian delegation reportedly has been sounding out other governments on the two-China plan.

New Lunar Orbiter Yields First Picture

Roughness of Moon Surface May Limit Equatorial Landings

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's Lunar Orbiter 2 swept on toward new scientific goals today after radioing the most valuable pictures yet in the nation's search for safe landing sites on the moon.

The spacecraft's first photograph — snapped Friday morning and released by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Friday night — showed a broad crater-pocked equatorial plain flat enough for upcoming Apollo vehicles to land on without tipping over.

There was a possibility, however, that the area was so pitted by small craters that it would not serve as a prime target for astronauts expected to fly to the moon within the next two or three years.

Limiting Factor

"Roughness may be a limiting factor," Dr. Thor Karlstrom, of the U.S. Geological Survey at Flagstaff, Ariz., told a news conference at Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

He said the photographed area, in the dry Sea of Tranquility, on the lunar equator, was not considered as promising as some of the other 13 potential landing sites Lunar Orbiter 2 will scan during the coming week.

Nonetheless, he said, the three photographs, snapped at a height of 30 miles, are the most valuable yet of the lunar terrain.

Their detail, showing craters as small as three feet across, far exceed details in photographs made by ailing Lunar Orbiter 1 in August and by the Soviet Luna 12 last month.

Deliberately Crashed

Some of the first U.S. Orbiter's pictures were blurred and the others yielded details no smaller than 24 feet across.

The Soviet pictures were taken at a much higher altitude — about 62 miles — and had even less detail.

Lunar Orbiter 1 was deliberately crashed on the moon prior to the second Orbiter launch Nov. 7 to avoid possible conflict of radio signals.

U.S. scientists are hunting for three-by-four-mile sites with several flat spots on which manned craft could land in case mechanical failure prevents their touching down on the exact target.

"There were no crater-free graphs that we have examined so far," Dr. Karlstrom said.

Ahead of Lunar Orbiter 2 are these further scientific goals:

1. Finding safer, smoother sites for manned landings.

2. Closeups of hot spots, tected by infrared photography from earth, which may be volcanoes.

R. J. Helberg, spacecraft director for Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash., which builds the Lunar Orbiters, said one of these spots is in the Sea of Tranquility and may have been photographed Friday.

These pictures have been stored on film in the spacecraft and are not scheduled to be radioed to earth for several weeks.

Knowles Inaugural Ball Planned for Jan. 6

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The second inaugural ball for Gov. Warren P. Knowles will be held in the Milwaukee Arena Jan. 6, Republican state chairman Ody J. Fish said Friday.

Knowles' first ball in 1964, was attended by about 4,000 persons at the Milwaukee Auditorium.

"Milwaukee was chosen again because of the inability of any other area to accommodate such a large function," Fish said.

Voters Erase Their Place of Residence

ELBERTON, Wash. (AP) — Elberton voters wiped themselves off the map in the general election.

Residents voted 15-5 to disincorporate the eastern Washington community and the Whitman County Canvass Board is expected to remove the town officially from maps and records Nov. 23.

Elberton, which once claimed it had the world's largest prune dryer, had a population of 66 in the last census.

Historic Decree Effective Dec. 2

Catholics May Eat Meat on Fridays

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Roman Catholics now must decide for themselves whether to eat meat on Fridays.

But if they decide to discontinue the 1,000-year-old tradition of Friday abstinence, they are urged strongly by their bishops to substitute some other form of voluntary penance.

In an historic decree announced Friday night, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops released the nation's 45 million Catholics from mandatory Friday abstinence on most Fridays of the year.

The change is effective Dec. 2 — the first Friday of Advent — but since in most dioceses the no-meat rule is lifted on the day after Thanksgiving, most U.S. Catholics may join fellow churchmen in France, Italy and Canada in eating meat next Friday.

Earlier The Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, Bishop of the Green Bay Diocese, had announced that Catholics can eat meat on Friday, Nov. 25, the day after Thanksgiving.

Earlier Action

French, Italian and Canadian bishops freed Catholics in those countries from the rule of abstinence earlier this year. Their action was authorized by Pope Paul VI and the Vatican Council.

The U.S. bishops, winding up an extraordinary meeting of the national conference, made several exceptions to their decree.

They said Catholics still must abstain and fast — limit the consumption of food in general — on Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, and on Good Friday, the Friday before Easter, and other Fridays in Lent.

The bishops said in their pastoral statement that on Ash Wednesday and on the Fridays during Lent "the obligation to abstain and or fast is so substantial that 'no Catholic Christian will lightly excuse himself' from it."

Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans, asked at a news conference whether a Catholic who eats meat on Friday during Lent would commit a sin, said "that would be a matter between him and his confessor."

Permit Choice

The bishops said they lifted the ban to permit U.S. Catholics freedom of choice in observing personal penance. But they said they still "give first place to abstinence from fresh meat."

The action was taken, the bishops said, "in the hope that the Catholic community will ordinarily continue to abstain from meat by free choice as formerly we did in obedience to church law."

The law first was decreed by Pope Nicholas I (858-867). But Friday dates from the early days of Christianity as a day set aside for acts of mortification and penance in memory of Christ's suffering and death.

Following decisions of the Vatican Council, Pope Paul said earlier this year "the Apostolic See intends to reorganize penitential discipline with practices more suited to our times." He left it to the discretion of the national churches to rule on the meat-on-Friday ban.

Cautious Viet Nam Statement

Rusk Indicates Chance For Christmas Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has indicated the United States is holding open the possibility that a silence in the ground war in Viet Nam will be matched by a silence in the air war — at least for Christmas and the lunar New Year.

But Rusk added at a news conference Friday: "I would not want to hold out the expectation that a prolonged pause in the bombing might occur."

He said there have been no indications from the other side as to what would happen if the bombing were stopped. But he drew a distinction between the idea of a general pause — like the one that lasted 37 days over the last Christmas season — and what might happen this Christmas.

Lunar New Year

Carefully emphasizing his words, Rusk said that what might happen during such special days as Christmas and the Tet — lunar New Year — period would depend on the South Vietnamese and to some extent on the Viet Cong, the Communist guerrillas.

The Tet, which covers a three-day period in the second week of February, ushers in the "Year of the Sheep" in the Chinese lunar calendar.

At his first news conference in two months, Rusk avoided taking flat position against a holiday truce provided the other side stopped shooting. But he did rule out any one-sided gesture by the United States to stop bombing North Viet Nam without some assurance of reciprocal action.

Rusk said the military problem has to be faced in South Viet Nam "solely due to the fact that the other side has not been willing to undertake serious discussions or to come to the conference table, or to engage in a conference or to start making peace."

On another subject, the secretary put Czechoslovakia on notice that relations with the United States would be affected if there is not a speedy solution to the case of Vladimir Kazan-Komarek, an American travel agent arrested in Prague on spy charges.

Rusk said the United States is "pressing very hard for immediate consular access" to the travel agent, a former Czech who was arrested while returning from a travel conference in Moscow.

Italians Fear New Floods as Waters Rise

ROVIGO, Italy (AP) — Fear of destructive new floods gripped towns in the Po Delta today as waters of the raging Adriatic Sea rose to rooftop level in three towns already evacuated.

Rolling across sea dikes the Adriatic waves inundated 25,000 acres of land around Scardovari, Bonelli and Santa Giulia. Some residents managed to haul a few furnishings out of windows and lash them to the roofs before leaving in rescue boats.

Military and civic officials said damage to soil and buildings was incalculable. Evacuation of more than 10,000 persons was systematic and orderly, with no loss of life reported.

Dozens of heavy army transports were massed at the head of a road that winds along the dikes to villages in the northernmost sector of the delta, ready to carry out hundreds of other residents should the sea invade there as it has in the delta's southern triangle.

Faith Lutheran Sets Dedication Services

Dr. Oswald Hoffman Will Speak; Plan Public Open House Sunday

Four special services and an open house will mark public dedication activities this weekend at Faith Lutheran Church at Alice and Union streets.

Guest speaker for the dedicatory services will be Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, lecturer for the weekly Lutheran Hour radio program. He will appear at three identical services at 7 p.m. today and at 8 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday, and will address the Sunday school for all ages at 9:15 a.m.

Ministers Speak

Other ministers on the program are the Rev. Carl Luedtke, Manawa; the Rev. Walter Lichtsinn, Menasha; the Rev. Hilbert Hilgendorf, Good Shepherd, Appleton; the Rev. Lloyd Goetz, Wausau; and the Rev. Edward Einem, Waukegan, Ill.

Pastor Luedtke is counselor of the Missouri Synod district's fifth circuit of churches; Pastor Lichtsinn will speak for the synod's Fox Valley churches; and Pastor Hilgendorf represents Faith's sister congregation in Appleton. Pastor Goetz is the president of the North Wisconsin and Upper Michigan district. Pastor Einem is a former member of the congregation and former businessman in the Fox Cities.

An open house from 3 to 6 p.m. Sunday will offer guided tours of the new facility.

The Rev. Henry Simon is pastor. Harold Arbeiter is chairman of the congregation and Henry Scheig, of the building committee.

Organized in 1949, the parish has completed its third building program. Designed in contemporary style, the sanctuary seats 600 in the nave, 60 in the balcony and 40 in the mothers' room, with an overflow of an additional 100 in the narthex.

Cross Rises

A 21-foot steel cross rises out of the center of the 10-foot polished terrazo altar and, adorned with a sunburst light fixture symbolizing the risen and living Christ, is the focal point of the sanctuary.

Twelve windows on the north side recall the original apostles and three chancel windows, using about 580 two-inch thick colored glass pieces, carry lines guiding the eye toward the cross.

Fifty oak pews grace the main floor and music is provided by a recently dedicated 10-rank pipe organ using 750 pipes.

The altar is the free-standing type, providing for 30 worshippers to commune simultaneously, each facing the altar and the cross. The parlor beneath the main edifice provides meeting and banquet facilities for 300 and includes an efficient kitchen.

Remodeling of the previous church provides 49 classrooms for Sunday school.

Total cost of the construction, designed by the architectural firm of Boettcher and Ginnow, Inc., Neenah, is about $430,000, including remodeling. Theo Utschig and Son, Inc., Appleton, was general contractor.

Britons in Arms About Fate of Church Riches

Battle Starts Over Selling of Silver to Pay for Renovation

LONDON (AP) — Should a vicar sell the church treasures to raise funds for repairs to the building?

The Rev. Robert McIntyre, 58, vicar of St. Cuthbert's in the Somerset market town of Wells, though he should. So, when renovation of the church windows required more money than his parishioners could raise, he decided to sell two 300-year-old silver flagons. An art expert had valued them at $11,200.

That raised a storm he never expected. The sale was opposed by the City Council and the governors of the local Blue School, which was founded by one Ezekiel Barkham, who presented the flagons to the church before his death in 1641.

The issue became so controversial that the Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Rt. Rev. Edward Henderson, stepped in to appoint a consistory court to give a ruling.

Little Money

Rectors and vicars all over England took time off from watching the ravages of deathwatch beetles and the leaking roofs of their mouldering churches to see which way the decision would go. Most had some church plate stored away but little money in their restoration funs.

Just how much treasure the Church of England has is a matter for conjecture. One expert has set its value at $56 million.

Prebendary A. S. Hopkinson, rector of Bobbingworth in Essex, suggested last year that many of the church valuables should be handed to the state for valuation, then turned into cash for maintaining and restoring the most worthwhile churches.

"Apart from actual buildings and available sites, the church has a great deal of treasure hidden away in safes and museums," says Hopkinson, who is also a religious adviser to one of Britain's commercial television corporations. "No one can estimate the value of the plate and other valuables which are never in use."

Never Used

The Rev. Mr. McIntyre seemed to bear him out. His flagons stand about two feet high and look like drinking mugs with hinged lids. They are never used.

"They lie in the bank vault from one end of the year to another," the vicar said.

Selling of vessels once used to contain the consecrated elements is opposed on that ground alone by many Anglicans, said Miss Judith Scott, secretary of the Council for the Care of Churches.

"Furthermore," she added, "it is felt by them that these pieces of plate were, as the inscriptions upon them often record, given in trust. If such a trust is violated now to meet current expenses, it is likely to dry up future sources of generosity."

When the Consistory Court met in Wells for what was expected to be a two-day hearing, 47 objectors turned up. But the court adjourned after only five minutes and gave no decision.

It was announced that the vicar had withdrawn his application to sell the flagons and the hearing was closed.

Dr. Walter Wigglesworth, chancellor of the diocese, said he hoped no more would be heard of the matter. Another way was found to raise the money. The Blue School agreed to make a contribution and other local organizations will help.

"I am very happy," said the vicar as the flagons went back to the bank.

But in rectories and vicarages up and down the country there were priestly sighs of discouragement. The absence of any ruling in no way helped those who were feeding the deathwatch beetle with ancient church timbers.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

As the hand of Divine Providence guided the Pilgrim Fathers through treacherous waters to a new land, so it guides us today. Each day we give thanks for His guidance as the Pilgrims did. Again we will observe a formal day of Thanksgiving as a memorial to their faith and to strengthen and give thanks for our own. The last two sentences in the Thanksgiving Day prayer from The Book of Church Services give us the spirit of this day.

"... For all the gifts Thou hast bestowed upon us, and upon the whole family of man, we give Thee humble and hearty thanks. May we show our gratitude by faithful lives devoted to Thy service; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Discuss Guidelines for New Ecumenical Group

Newly-Formed Steering Committee Will Decide on Future Projects

A meeting of the newly-formed Steering Committee on Ecumenical Activities has been scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at The First Congregational Church. Guidelines for the committee, as well as possible projects, will be discussed.

Some of the possible projects include ministry to institutions, campus ministry, Christian Youth Council, vocational ethics groups, lay training center, national Christian teaching mission, living room dialogues and community special worship.

According to the Rev. Donald Sevetson, assistant pastor of First Congregational Church and one of the founders of the committee, the organization will not duplicate any existing group. It will manifest itself only in analyzing needs and carrying out joint projects to meet these needs.

"The purpose of this group is to facilitate effective and creative ecumencial action and ministry with a minimum of overhead organization," Sevetson said.

Membership is open to any church that wishes to participate in any or all of the projects sponsored by the committee. To qualify, each church must contribute $10 a year, name its ministers and one to three laymen or women to individual membership, and demonstrate a willingness to work on at least one of the projects.

Kellett Subcommittee to Ask Keeping Consevation Groups

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Writer

The chairman of the Kellett Commission's conservation subcommitt said Friday that his group will recommend to the full committee next Tuesday that the Conservation Department and the Water Resources Board be retained intact in a new Department of Natural Resources.

Spokesmen for the two groups proposed at a hearing Wednesday that the Conservation operation be retained as it is, with the water group separate "at least for a time," with a reconstituted policy-setting commission overseeing both.

Sen. Robert Warren said Friday that "our recommendations will be pretty much along those lines."

The form and duties of the policy-setting commission still are "quite fluid," he said, but there the final recommendations will retain the citizen-commissioner idea.

13 Members

Warren said the set-up might include three commission members from conservation, three from water resources and seven public members, with their duties "someting akin" to those of the State Coordinating Commission for Higher Education.

The policy group would have the power of budget review, Warren said, but each agency would be responsible for setting up its own budget initially. At present the Conservation Commission budget, which involved millions in ear-marked funds, is subject to review by the Legislature and the Governor.

The initial Natural Resources section in the Kellett Committee's state government reorganization proposal would have eliminated the citizen-type Conservation Commission altogether; removed the warden force from the Conservation Department and assigned it to the same division as the traffic patrol, and done away with recreation and educational sections.

Changed Minds

"We changed our minds on a few things after the hearing," said another subcommittee member, Wayne Hood.

Warren said the decision to retain the warden force and the minor divisions came after conservation officials "gave us the broad background of the work done, particularly by wardens, in conservation outside the strict area of law enforcement, and how these men have the background and in many cases the education to feel a real commitment to conservation."

The Green Bay Senator acknowledged that reconstitution of the Natural Resources Committee of State Agencies as a super natural resources commission might kindle further controversies because of the disparate size of the present conservation and water groups —the former has 2,000 employes in 12 divisions, the newly-formed latter less than 100—as well as in the responsibilities of commissioners.

He also agreed that committee members would have to guard against "throwing out the baby with the bath water" in trimming representatives from other areas of government from the Natural Resources committee as it is now constituted.

As set up in 1951, the committee has the Governor as chairman, the Conservation Director—L.P. Voigt — as vice chairman and operating head.

It's Official: Knowles Won Re-election by Record 86,783 Votes

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles' winning margin in his re-election was fixed Friday at 86,783.

It was the largest spread in a governor's race in Wisconsin in eight years.

The Secretary of State's office, compiling the official returns, came up with these figures Friday for Republican Knowles, Democratic Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, and independent Adolf Wiggert in the Nov. 8 election.

Knowles	626,041
Lucey	539,258
Wiggert	4,745

The turnout, counting 129 write-in votes for scattered other candidates, was 1,170,173, the lowest total since 1954.

The Legislature's Job

The Wisconsin legislature that will convene in Madison for its 78th regular session early in January will be compensated at a higher level, served with a more generous complement of assistants and advisors, and will have the benefit of a cadre of leadership in both parties of greater experience than any in the history of the state.

The newly elected members taking their seats will be entered on the payroll for salaries of $8,400 a year, a boost of about 50 per cent over the previous pay. Hold-over members of the state senate, whose terms extend through the next two years, will be paid at the previous level. Constitutional law prohibits the raising of their pay during the terms for which they were elected.

The 1965 legislature rewrote the laws providing for auxiliary services for the lawmakers. They now have more private office space and more secretarial assistance than ever before. There are generous fringe benefits, in the way of living allowances for the time spent in session, travel reimbursement and others. In financial terms, the Wisconsin legislature is one of the best treated in the country. There was clamorous criticism of the salary revision law, generated in part by the unfortunate disposition of these men to act on such issues with what appears to some critics to be stealth. But it is to their credit that when they were severely challenged, and encountered a stinging veto from Gov. Knowles, they followed his counsel and arranged for independent consultation on the question of emoluments.

As far as we have been able to determine, there was comparatively little showing of electoral resentment or hostility about the salary measure finally enacted after thoughtful study by an advisory committee of representative citizens and the state department of personnel.

Yet we would remind these representatives that the people they serve will expect performance this winter commensurate with the handsome improvement in their salaries and allowances. There is no reason readily visible to their constituents why the weekly sittings of the legislature should not be extended to at least four days, and perhaps five, instead of the skinny sessions of two and one half to three days that have been habitual. The explanation for the long recesses has been the desire of these men to accommodate the private jobs and professions most of the members continue when they serve in the senate or the assembly.

But the new salary schedule is based on the demonstration that for the competent and responsible representative, legislative duties represent approximately a half-time occupation. There is no readily acceptable reason why the new legislature cannot dispose of its work, deliberately and carefully, in six or seven months, or eight, as an absolute limit. The endless sessions of the last decade were as tiring to the people as to the men involved. With one party numerical control restored by the people in the election, the challenge for a session of reasonable duration and diligence confronts the Republican majority.

Trouble Among Friends

It's a wonder Communists are forever looking for enemies, when they have such good friends to do battle with.

Not only are the conflicts on large nation scales, such as between China and Albania on one side and most of the rest of the Communist world on the other. Individuals are having their problems too.

Robert Williams, once a North Carolina resident, hopped off to Cuba after a kidnapping charge was brought against him. He published a newsletter and started what he called Radio Free Dixie broadcasts to the United States in protest of treatment of fellow Negroes. But then he began to run into difficulties with the Cuban comrades. He claims he couldn't open an information office, that his records were stolen and that an edition of his newsletter was forged. Cuban authorities wouldn't let him accept a speaking engagement in Sweden and he claims that some $1,500 he sent to friends in New York never left Cuba.

So Williams set out for China. First he made a couple of visits and then enrolled his sons in Chinese schools. But he claims he had trouble getting out of the Cuban clutches. Cuban authorities even suggested that he return to the United States.

Williams is now in China and he has written Fidel Castro about his problems. He charges that the Cuban government "allowed saboteurs to sabotage our struggle." The letter challenges in length even Fidel's marathon television appearances. It is sixteen pages long and has some 8,550 words.

In a few weeks, no doubt, some Red Guard units will start to give Williams trouble. But where can one go after Peking?

New Role for Vietnamese Army

There may be considerable resentment among Americans at the news that most of the South Vietnamese army will soon be removed from combat, leaving the fighting of the war to the United States and the token forces from our various allies. But the policy is probably a wise one and for at least two reasons.

The number of casualties in the last few months has been bitter evidence that in reality American forces were increasingly taking over the fighting of the war. Whatever the lack of enthusiasm at home for the war, it has not affected the ability of the American military to fight. We have the better equipment, despite some serious supply problems, sounder military techniques and apparently the individual American soldier also has the will. This may in part be a negative one. After all, where would an American deserter in Viet Nam go? However, all reports are that morale is extremely high among American troops.

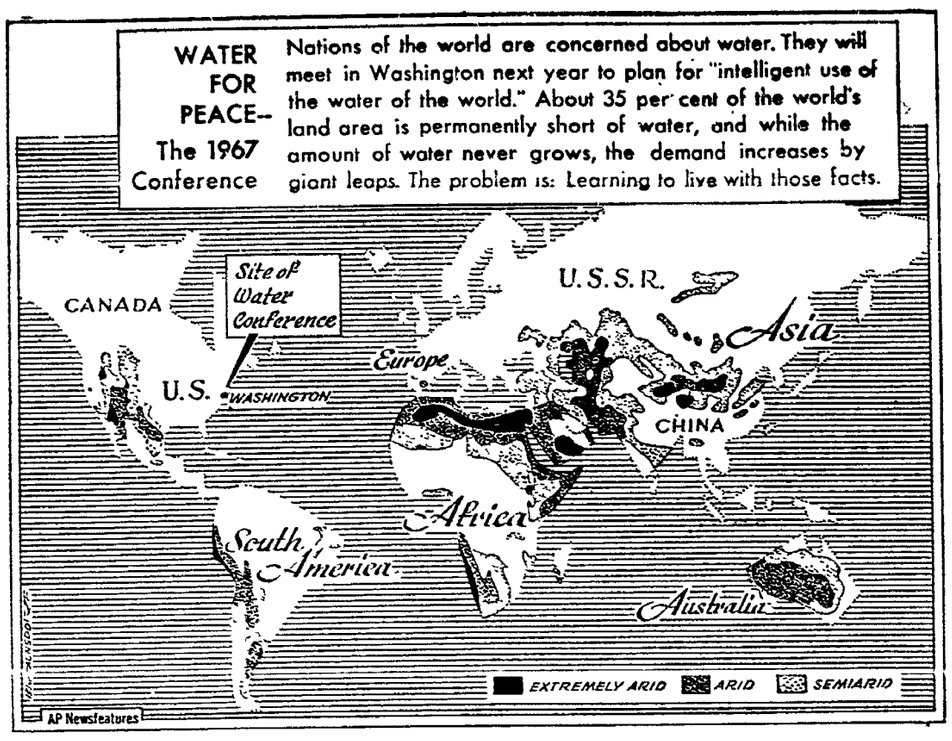
This has obviously not been true among the South Vietnamese. The desertion rate is fantastically high and matched only by a similar disinclination for war among many of the Viet Cong conscripts. The internal conflicts have also influenced the South Vietnamese inability to be an effective fighting force. For what may be quite valid political reasons, Premier Ky has shifted corps commanders and lesser officers, and despite the length of time he has been able to hold office, there is a tenuous quality about any command in Viet Nam after the years of instability. There has been no American official statement about the combat ability of the South Vietnamese but the Australians reportedly have been highly criticial.

But in the long run the purpose to which the South Vietnamese troops are now to be aimed is just as important as winning the war as far as preventing the eventual fall to communism of South Viet Nam. The "pacification" program has been outlined for years. Last winter it was made more definite with training schools set up for the pacification teams. Their purpose is to go to the villages, reclaimed by military action from the Viet Cong, and then win the support of the peasants to the Saigon government. Whether or not their methods are effective has yet to be determined on any broad scale because at this time they have insufficient protection. Secretary NcNamara complained about the failures during his last visit in Viet Nam but was reportedly told that the pacification teams dared not remain in jungle villages overnight without adequate protection.

The retraining program of the South Vietnamese military forces is to begin next month on a modest scale. By next July it is hoped that about 175,000 soldiers will be active in giving security to the pacification teams. Quite obviously, even if the North Vietnamese troops are driven out, the National Liberation Front could take over through an honest election unless the peasants become convinced that it is vastly to their welfare to support a more democratic regime.

In theory of course the pacification should be exclusively the work of the Vietnamese. It is essential to the defeat of communism in Viet Nam. It may be that the work will raise the morale of the South Vietnamese troops more than fighting the Viet Cong has.

But we should not be at all surprised some months hence to find that more American troops in Viet Nam will be rationalized because of the need for them in the pacification program.



U.S. Calls Conference to Probe Subject of Water for Peace

BY W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nations around the world are showing interest in the 1967 International Conference on Water for Peace, called by the United States.

The conference is to be held here May 23-31. It is being planned to deal with all of man's water problems — scarcity, over-abundance, purity, quality control, use, desalting, re-use, evaporation control, transportation, weather forecasting, pollution, irrigation, and drainage.

In announcing the conference, President Johnson said the meeting would "focus universal attention on mankind's need for water."

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, who will be president of the conference, says the meeting will be "more than an exchange of scientific data, important as that is; it is also a planning meeting to set the stage for international cooperation to eliminate water-based illness, flood, drought, and famine through the intelligent use of the water of the world."

PERMANENT SHORTAGE

In the background is the knowledge that "water shortage is permanent for about 35 per cent of the land areas of the world."

That figure comes from Dr. Raymond L. Nace of the U.S. Geological Survey, who adds that "aridity is not necessarily bad, even from a subjective, human standpoint."

Nace is a research hydrologist and chairman of the U.S. National Committee for the International Hydrological Decade (1965-74).

"Dry areas are popular places for habitation, agriculture and industry wherever water can be obtained, usually from distant sources," Nace continued.

"Rivers like the Colorado, the Nile, and the Euphrates are able to flow through deserts because they derive most of their water from distant highlands that yield plenty of water."

He pointed out that a glance at a world map showing arid regions "reveals permanent watershort areas existing in slightly more than a third of the earth's land areas — that is, in about 18 million square miles."

"In North Africa," he said, "The Sahara region is almost as large as the entire conterminous United States, and a large additional area is arid to semi-arid. Each of the continents has one desert, and Africa has two."

He observed that "people react to drought in the United States as a disaster" but added there is no general agreement on how to define drought, "because attitudes are subjective, rather than objective."

"A meteorological drought is a shortage of rain," he said. "An agricultural drought is a shortage of soil moisture for plant growth, and a hydrological drought is a shortage of water in rivers and in subsurface, water-bearing rocks or aquifers."

The Geological Survey figures that the world's oceans, ice fields, lakes and rivers contain more than 324 million cubic miles of water, some 317 million salt ocean water. Beneath the earth, in soil and rock, lies some 2 million cubic miles in the form of fresh ground water. Another 3,100 cubic miles of water, mostly in the form of vapor, is contained in the world's atmosphere.

Most of the earth's original supply of water probably is still in use, the survey adds. It says little has been added or lost in the hundreds of millions of years since the first clouds formed and the first rains fell.

"World population, technology, economic activity and water demands all are growing at geometric rates," Nace says. "But the supply of fresh water is not growing at all."

Accordingly, he said, "We should continue to prepare for he future droughts that will inevitably return. Drought is a natural phenomena and we cannot control nature. We have to learn better how to work with nature."

sic faculty members were to be in the limelight that weekend at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. LaVahn Maesch, Conservatory of Music director, was to take part in a panel discussion. Pianist James Ming and cellist Marian Ming were to perform "Three Concert Pieces," composed by Ming. The work of Lawrence piano professor Clyde Duncan was to be performed by University of Wisconsin pianists.

John Baumgartner, Appleton, was named chairman of the newly organized Explorer Advisory Board of the Valley Council of Boy Scouts. Gerald DeBruin, Kimberly, was named secretary of the group.

Mrs. Max Krautsch was elected president of the St. Mary Magdalen Sodality at Waupaca.

Wisconsin Report

Prospects of Boosts In State Taxes Hard To Assess Right Now

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Does the reelection of a Republican administration and the return of the Republicans to control of the State Legislature mean the enactment of a "general sales tax," levying across the board on goods and services, as some of the dispatches in the last week have claimed?

There is nothing upon which to base such a conclusion, which is premature, to put it most charitably.

Wyngaard

It is quite justifiable to guess that if the state treasury requires substantial amounts of money during the next two years beyond the revenue prospects under the present tax system, the men chosen to control the state and to make such policy are more likely to look to the sales tax than to the income tax which is already comparatively high in Wisconsin as against neighbor states and the states of the country as a whole.

But a "general sales tax," which is to say a tax on food and clothing and other necessities such as drugs? It is not easily conceivable. Any realistic assessment of the outlook will deny it.

* * *

NOBODY ON RECORD

The principal politicians involved have a record on just about every tax issue in the state, but there is nobody among them, as far as this reporter knows, who has ever voted for such a comprehensive tax, or proposed it.

Probably there is some confusion and misunderstanding here, and especially among reporters who were not closely involved with the subject at the time, relating to the "credit refund" scheme that was bounced around in state politics half a dozen years ago. Philip Kuehn, Republican nominee for governor in 1960 for example, unwisely embraced the scheme, and discovered too late that it was hard to explain and generally misunderstood or ignored by voters. The idea there was to enact a "general" sales tax, for the sake of administrative convenience and efficiency and to rebate to individuals the exemption equivalent of necessities of consumption in the way of cash payments or income tax credits at the end of the tax year.

But that plan has been abandoned long since. When Gov. Knowles sent his tax message to the legislature two years ago it wasn't mentioned. Instead Knowles asked for a general sales tax with food, clothing and drugs explicitly exempt, which would have had the effect of extending the levy somewhat beyond the "selective" tax now on the books.

If new revenues are required, after the next state budget is completed sometimes next spring, it is a fair guess therefore that the Republican administration will propose a program similar to that first choice of 1965 which was dropped later in favor of more income taxation.

* * *

THE OUTLOOK

Probably some additional tax revenue will be required. But forecasting involved speculation about the attitude of the legislature on the question of spending, first, and the consequences of prosperity and price inflation on swelling present tax receipts, second.

The total of additional spending requests — probably $300 million above present authorizations — will require substantial additional taxation if it is approved. The question is how much it will be cut back. The record of the last 10 years in standing up against such pressures does not encourage a prediction of success. Yet, some Republicans are mildly chagrined that the free spending issue could have been raised against them in the campaign this year by the Democrats, of all people. There is also the fact that there is an influential bloc of fiscal conservatives in the Assembly to be reckoned with. If Gov. Knowles wants to run again in the future, as most believe, he may find it wise to take a harder line on spending.

The second element in the equation is the treasury income. Statehouse economists tend to be optimistic. Economic output in Wisconsin tends to be higher than that of the average state. That inflates tax income. A reasonably generous increase in the budget could be sustained, probably, without additional taxation. Whether the governor and the new legislature can manage to hold the increase to a moderate level is the question.

Coming Famine Could Be Communist Plot

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Is America facing a famine in the years ahead? Our forefathers set aside Thanksgiving Day to be observed every year in November in acknowledgment of God's mercy and the bountiful crops He has bestowed on our favored land. But Thanksgiving Day may have a very hollow ring in the near future. Some experts are predicting that by 1970 we will be faced with the most colossal catastrophe in history, famine, afflicting hundreds of millions of people. The first department of the U.S. Government to be infiltrated and controlled by the Communists and their collaborators was not the State Department, as many people think, but the Department of Agriculture. The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 was promoted by the Communists and its first administrator, George Peek, even admits that the program was administered mostly by Communists.

Is this ancient history and of no relevance to the present food shortage? It is very relevant because the program started by these Communists in the Department of Agriculture in 1938 is still in operation and this Communizing of American agriculture has led us to serious food shortages and possible famine. It was planned that way 30 years ago by Alger Hiss and Communists in the Department of Agriculture. The Communists control tens of millions of people in the world by controlling their food supply. If a man is kept in a semi-starved state he is in no condition to fight. Only the elite and their disciplined armies in Communist countries, fed partially by reluctant American taxpayers, get enough to eat. Unless the fetters put on American farmers are removed, Americans may soon find that their day to day survival depends on food coupons dispensed by Big Brother in Washington. Our enslavement will then be complete and Thanksgiving Day will disappear from the American calendar.

Lutherans Oppose Any State Aid to Schools

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Upon reading one person's viewpoint on why Catholic parochial schools would favor city aid, I would like to comment that the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran schools are against accepting city or state aid for our schools in any form. Supposing tax money were alloted to parochial schools, then the natural course is for the city (or state) to approve or disapprove the manner in which these funds are spent. Let's not "sell out" the basic purpose why we choose to send our children to a religious school, mainly, so we may have complete freedom to teach our children the beliefs of their faith. True, the three children we send to our Lutheran School are costing us more than if they attended public school, but we feel it is worth the extra cost to be assured that the teaching of our Lutheran faith will not be restricted, as could one day come about if we allow officials "the inch" that could one day "stretch to a mile." History has shown us that when church and state have no clear cut lines to follow, one will eventually overrun the other and, whether it be in religion or government, tyranny is not what this country was founded on.

Beard Can be Shaved Off But Color of Skin Can't

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It was very interesting to read the article Sunday before last on beards and mustaches by your own reporter. Others who have had the same experience in your pages recently are Mr. Harris and our friend Dagwood. All have gone the same route, but it doesn't strike me that any of them has pointed out the real lesson to be learned.

In his book on "The Roots of Prejudice," Gordon Allport clearly expounds the relationship between a visible difference and unreasoning prejudice. Whether it be red hair, freckles, the shape of one's nose, or the color of one's skin, any characteristic which is visible and differs from the local norm is met with a tremendous reservoir of ill will ranging from simple rejection to vehement hatred. If anyone reading this wants to experience the actions and attitudes of his fellow man toward minority groups, let him attempt to be different. In this day of pious platitudes concerning brotherhood and the love of mankind, if you want to know what it is to be a "nigger," try to grow a beard. Don't change your habits of personal thoughtfulness, hard work, or cleanliness, just grow a beard.

If you do try it, you will feel the terrible pressure to conform to the outward norm of our society, and realize the exposure of the smallness, unreasoning prejudice, and sometimes hatred of even your closest associates. In fact, the exercise of growing a goatee will exert very strong forces in your own personality to make you try even harder to be thoughtful, hard working, and impeccably clean. And none of these efforts will help. As long as you are visibly different, the casual acquaintance, the stranger at the coffee shop, the man on the street, will still make snide comments, and express his prejudice in ways you had not thought possible. As long as this situation exists, our pratings about brotherhood and tolerance are a pile of hypocritical garbage.

One last point. After you experiment if you wish, or if the pressure finally gets to the point where your resolve collapses, you may quite easily return to the fold by sacrificing yourself and shaving off that thing which has built the wall of separation between you and your former friends. But there are some things one is born with, such as the color of his skin, and in your town, among your friends, such a one would unavoidably and continually experience the same extreme stresses which eventually forced your reporter, Mr. Harris, and even Dagwood, against their will, to shave "it" off. And for such a one there would be no way out.

I trust that by pointing out these things explicitly, some will expand their own understanding of their actions and attitudes and perhaps the next time you see someone who is different in some way, you will be led for conscience sake to examine the individual's personality and not focus on the thing which makes him or her different.

Express Firm Open for Business

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Nov. 22, 1866.

The Merchants' Union Express has now begun to do business along the line of the Chicago and North Western Railway.

The agent here at Appleton is Mr. Ross, who keeps his office on College Avenue opposite the Crescent office.

Already our business men begin to feel the welcome effects of a wholesome competition. One morning this week we received a package from Chicago, such as commonly has cost us dollar or more expressage; but this time the charge was only 55 cents.

We heartily hope this new company will get at least half the business of this town.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Nov. 15, 1941.

With Japanese-American relations strained, the Japanese diet opened a "crisis" session that day in Tokyo, while in Washington special envoy Saburo Kurusu supposedly was presenting his government's final terms for promoting peace between the two nations.

Mrs. Ed Lindberg was elected president of the newly organized Band Mothers Club at Combined Locks. Mrs. John Scherer was elected secretary-treasurer.

Walter T. Fox was chosen superintendent of the First Methodist Church School.

Articles of incorporation were signed for the Appleton Rifle and Pistol Club. They were signed by Helm C. Hussner, Walter E. Sager, Harry E. Hassinger, Wilmer E. Grimmer and Carleton H. Root.

Former Appleton Man With Singer Yarbrough

Donald Dexter Jr. Drummer With Music Group Appearing at Chapel Monday Night

BY JINGO

When singer Glenn Yarbrough appears in concert at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel Monday night, the drummer backing him will be Donald Dexter Jr., a native of Appleton.

Jingo

Dexter, a 1959 graduate of Appleton High School, is currently a resident of North Hollywood, where he lives with his wife, the former Sandra Dominowski, also a native of Appleton, and their 4-year-old son, Page Andrew.

Dexter

Dexter got his start in the music business following a stint in the Marines, during which time he was a drummer in the West Coast Marine Band. He also attended, following discharges, a radio school, from which he received his engineer's card.

His credits include working with the Smothers Brothers, appearances with name stars at various night clubs, several beach-type movies and a TV special last season, "The Wierd World of Dr. Goldfoot."

He was the drummer on the recent hit record by Nino Tempo and April Stevens, "All Strung Out."

Following his performance here with Yarbrough, the group will go to New York, where they will appear on "The Ed Sullivan Show" Nov. 27. Scheduled for Dec. 2 is a concert at Carnegie Hall with Yarbrough.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dexter, 817 W. Spencer St., Appleton.

"S. Hurok Presents," a star-studded 90-minute tribute to impresario Sol Hurok, will be broadcast in color on CBS-TV Dec. 6 (8:30-10, Channels 2-7-12).

The list of distinguished artists who will appear on the special includes Marian Anderson, Van Cliburn, Isaac Stern, guitarist Andres Segovia, Antonio and the Ballets de Madrid and prima ballerina Maya Plisetskaya and members of the Bolshoi Ballet. Cliburn and the Bolshoi Ballet are featured attractions at this season's Town and Gown Series at Oshkosh.

The program was taped last spring in New York, London and Los Angeles, under the direction of Bill Foster. It was produced by Robert Saudek Associates.

Hurok will be seen with several of the participating artists at the openings of their respective segments of the broadcast, which include:

Marian Anderson, in her television debut as a narrator, narrating Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait," played by a symphony orchestra under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein;

Van Cliburn playing the third movement of Rachmaninoff's "Piano Concerto No. 3 in D Minor, Opus 30";

Stern, Segovia

Isaac Stern, using a 1740 Guarnerius violin, playing the first movement of Mozart's "Concerto No. 3 in G Major";

Andres Segovia playing a Bach Gavotte and "Etude No. 1" by Villa-Lobos;

Antonio and the Ballets de Madrid performing a Navarre folk dance, "Viva Navarra," and a traditional flamenco;

Maya Plisetskaya dancing the adagio from "Swan Lake" and, with members of the Bolshoi Ballet, the fourth act of "Don Quixote."

Actress Geraldine Chaplin bears a striking resemblance to her famous father, comedian-director Charlie Chaplin, as he looked in his younger days in movies. Miss Chaplin appears here in character for her latest film, "Stranger in the House," which is being made in London. (AP Wirephoto)

Leonard Stern Of 'Get Smart' Master of Quip

'Would You Believe' Radio, TV Comedians Said These 10 First?

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Sorry about that." "Would you believe?" If you haven't heard or read these expressions, there's a good chance that you are either a Basque sheepherder or a Trappist monk.

Most other citizens use or encounter the phrases with unnerving regularity. They gained currency through the television series "Get Smart," on which they are uttered by the all-thumbs spy played by comic Don Adams. Thus he carries on what has long been a tradition in radio and television comedy: the repetitive punchline.

The man responsible for promulgating "Sorry about that" and "Would you believe?" on the American public is the executive producer of "Get Smart," Leonard Stern.

"The comedy catch phrase can be enormously advantageous in achieving publicity," theorized Stern. "You see them and hear them everywhere."

Ready With Others

Some comics shy away from trademark sayings, fearing they themselves will fade when the sayings do. They cite George Gobel and his "Well, I'll be a dirty bird," and "You can't hardly get them no more."

"The dangers are minimal if the phrase is not abused," counters Stern.

Just in case the current pair of sayings go stale, Stern has two more warming in the bullpen: "Missed it by that much" and "Hope I'm not out of line."

Do You Remember?

Here's a bit of a quiz to test how well you remember such punchlines of the past. If you can guess who originated all 10, it proves one thing: you have devoted a lot of time to radio and television:

1. "That's a joke, son."
2. "Va va va vroom!"
3. "Wanna buy a duck?"
4. "I dood it."
5. "Coming, mother."
6. "I'm a ba-a-ad boy."
7. "That's what I keep telling them down at the office."
8. "Hi-ho, Steverino."
9. "So help me, I'll mow you down."
10. " 'Tain't funny, McGee."

1. Kenney Delmar as Sen. Claghorn with Fred Allen; 2. Art Carney on "The Honeymooners"; 3. Joe Penner; 4. Red Skelton; 5. Ezra Stone as Henry Aldrich; 6. Lou Costello; 7. Jerry Colonna on the Bob Hope show; 8. Louis Nye as Gordon Hathaway on the Steve Allen show; 9. Charlie McCarthy; 10. Marian Jordan on "Fibber McGee and Molly."

Flipper To the Rescue

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 (Channels 4-5) — Still another accident provides the excitement for Flipper viewers. Bud, who is always eager to earn an extra buck, enlists the aid of a young pal to help him paint a buoy. The lad slips into the drink and oh, my gosh it looks as if he is going to go down for the fifth time!

* * *

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Once again The Honeymooners provide the action on The Jackie Gleason Show. They are in Spain gaily getting mixed up with blackmailing senoritas and foot-stomping fiestas. It's an energetic tour-de-force for the Kramdens and Nortons but not one of their better stop-offs. There are two nimble numbers, however: "They Brought the Latin Out In Me" and "Have a Little Faith."

* * *

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Shane has much of the suspense generated by "High Noon." J. D. Cannon is impressive as a gunslinger destined for a showdown with David Carradine. Cannon and gang ride into the town of Crossroads and take over. Bert Freed, as Ryker, knowing that Carradine and Cannon were "carefully taught" by the same badman ("The Wolf") prods them into a showdown and there is considerable speculation as to who will fall first.

* *

7:30-8 (Channels 4-5) — Get Smart invades a circus (hideout for a KAOS diamond-smuggling ring) for its laughs. Don Adams and Barbara Feldon, posing as magazine reporters, run into a bizarre assortment: Gertrude-Gerald (half woman-half man) who has trouble checking into hotels; a strong man, who can crush diamonds with his teeth, and a nervous knife thrower.

8-9 (Channesl 2-7-12) — Heroes of Mission: Impossible have an assignment which may remind viewers very much of one John Drake had on Secret Agent. Behind the Iron Curtain is a "typical American small town," complete with dancehall girls. The idea is for the Reds to get accustomed to our customs so they can invade the U.S. and spread a deadly bacteria through its food shops and restuarants. Martin Landau gets infected, and hope for survival seems slim.

8-10:30 (Channels 4-5) — "Come September" on Saturday Night at the Movies is trivia — but it's romantic trivia, gaily wrapped with the likes of Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida, Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin. The setting is the Italian Riviera where Rock finds Walter Slezak has been using his villa for a hotel 11 months of the year. Some bright songs, loads of pretty scenery, and gushy romances enliven the procedings. A 1961 release.

* *

8:30-9:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Once more Vince Edwards proves he can sing and dance as he hosts The Hollywood Palace. The former Dr. Ben Casey also presents pianist Peter Nero, comic Norm Crosby, dancer Juliet Prowse, the comedy team of Rowan and Martin and The Standells, a rock 'n' roll group who sing their hit, "Dirty Water." Also the usual assortment of acrobats.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

False, say a number of research studies. The leader usually has strength of will, determination and drive. But he doesn't push himself into a position of leadership. It is the other way around. Groups see in the man with determination and persistence, something that they need and lack, and "elect" him as their leader.

Divorce is a costly business!

True ——— False ———

True, in every sense of the word. Divorce costs heavily in money, emotional energy, suffering and distress. Further, as Elizabeth Ogg puts it, "Divorce is paid for in wasted potential and weakening of community life. More directly, a society pays the price by supporting many divorced families, particularly those disrupted by the poor man's divorce — desertion. And the social costs of botched divorces swell the budget of child-guidance bureaus, juvenile courts, mental hospitals and prisons." Surely it is a personal and social concern, never to be taken lightly.

Is it hard for a girl to get into medical school?

Yes ——— No ———

Yes, it is. Medical schools cannot take anywhere near all the students who would like to become doctors. A student of either sex has to have a rather special ability, both personally and academically, to be considered. Probably a girl must be quite superior in all these attributes in order to be accepted as a medical student. The fear is that after she is all through her costly medical training "she will just get married" and her medical education will be wasted. We could use more women doctors, as the reader who submits this question suggests. What can be done about making it possible for more female students to get into medical school?

Shadowgraph Cutouts Make Set of Family

BY CAPPY DICK

Shadowgraph cutouts of your family and friends are fun to make. You'll be surprised at the good likenesses you can produce The finished silhouettes may be hung in your room.

Have the person whose shadowgraph is to be made sit in a straight-back chair as close to the wall as possible. Remove the shade of a table lamp and place the lighted lamp as close as possible to the subject, as shown in the illustration. The light will cast a sharp shadow on the wall.

Fasten a big piece of plain paper to the wall where the shadow falls, affixing it with tape or thumbtacks. Then outline the shadow with black crayon.. This should be done rapidly because your model can remain still only for a brief time and if he moves the shadow will be changed. In making the outline begin with the forehead and proceed quickly to the nose, lips, chin and throat. These are the most important parts of the shadowgraph.

Remove the paper from the wall. Place it on a big piece of black construction paper and carefuly use scissors to cut around the entire outline. When you have finished cutting you will find you have produced a black silhouette like that in Figure 1. Paste it to cream-colored cardboard or construction paper.

Friction Constant In South Viet Nam

New Internal Political Explosions Continual Threat to Ruling Junta

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Friction is a constant, a way of life, in the politics of South Viet Nam.

The friction discernible now could ignite a new political explosion. The Americans and their allies in Viet Nam's frustrating war are keeping their fingers crossed. They pin their hopes on an odd sort of stability which has marked the rule of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and the 10 men associated with him in the ruling military junta.

Here the word "stability," as so many other words, is a relative term. At the moment, on the surface, the position of the flamboyant young air vice-marshal who runs the show seems fairly secure.

Will it last? The history of Saigon governments since President Ngo Dinh Diem was overthrown three years ago has been one of coup, countercoup, plots and confusion.

Leadership Committee

The answer seems to be this: The Ky regime will last as long as the generals in the junta, "the national leadership committee," remain on his side.

Two members of the junta will be watched for signs pointing one way or another.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, who is considered a capable military officer, has suffered from widespread rumors, and there are reports that he has aroused the anger of Americans here. He may be marked for oblivion. He is believed to have the loyalty of a group of influential military men. Any attempt to oust him from the junta could provoke crisis.

The other junta member being watched is Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang. He commands the 4th Corps in the Mekong delta, where half of South Viet Nam's population lives. Quang has, in the past, opposed the introduction of large American units in the delta, complaining that Americans did not know how to deal with Vietnamese. The Vietnamese there are not showing much talent in that direction either.

Civilian Casualties

The Americans, however, are going in, probably soon and in force, whether or not Quang has changed his mind in recent months. The delta is one key to the war, scene of the bloodiest fighting at village and hamlet level. Civilian casualties there are painfully high. The brunt of fighting and heavy losses is borne by irregular regional, district and village forces rather than the regular Republic of Viet Nam forces.

Ky's record shows pluses and minuses, and each plus aspect has its own constradictions. He has a talent for survival. He has been lucky in the case of the Buddhists, who now are deeply split. He was lucky with a near crisis in October, on the eve of his departure for the Manila conference summit.

Ky solved a deep crisis in his own way, by force, in the spring when he faced a rebellion by twodivisions of the 1st Corps. Its central figure, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, is now out of the country.

The incident in the north left a deep mark. Bitterness and discontent exist among educated elements in Hue and Da Nang. There remain people in the Hue area who could pose a threat to the regime, though the situation at the moment is quiet.

The Buddhist split has reached the point where groups hold rival meetings and vilify one another. They have lost some popular support. The Buddhists seem tired, out of steam, their political potential sharply diminished. They still plot, but now they also plot against one another.

Since Americans have taken over the major burden of the fighting, the regime can concentrate more of its armed power on keeping its grip on the nation's political life. Army men are less unhappy because the 290,000 regulars in many areas now do little more than rearguard duty behind the Americans and are less subject to battle casualties.

Performers Put Off Strike

Friday Agreement Will Hold at Least To Midnight Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Television and radio performers have put off their threatened industrywide strike until at least midnight Sunday, while negotiators attempt to reach a settlement.

Agreement reached Friday between the major networks and the AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists means that today's radio and television broadcasts — notably the football game between Notre Dame and Michigan State University — goes on as scheduled.

Under the guidance of federal mediator Abraham Desser, AFTRA reached a temporary accord with three major television networks, CBS, NBC, and ABC, and the Mutual Broadcasting System radio network.

The agreement stipulates that the networks not use any tapings made in the interim period after Sunday midnight if a strike materializes.

The AFTRA membership voted for a strike Tuesday, when the contracts expired. No specific strike date was set.

35 Africans Reported Dead In Bus Mishap

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) —A bus plunged off a 200-foot cliff and into a river Friday night about 30 miles north of Durban, police said today. Reports said 35 Africans were killed and 30 others injured.

Police and rescue teams worked through the night and into today trying to extricate bodies trapped in the tangled wreckage, police said. the Bus landed on its roof at Ngomweni in the hilly African reserve and mission center near Inanda.

Because of the remoteness of the scene it was hours before news of the accident reached th Ianda police station where rescue work was organized.

As news spread along the African "bush telegraph" system, hundreds of Africans from the mountainous region hurried to help.

Detroit's Lucci, Walker Involved In Bar Incident

DETROIT (AP)—A Brighton, Mich., man said he was involved in a scuffle Friday night with Detroit Lions linebackers Mike Lucci and Wayne Walker outside a Detroit bar.

David Smith, 25, told Detroit police Walker struck him on the forehead as he left the Townsman Lounge in Detroit's Northwest Side.

Walker, contacted late Friday night, admitted there was a fracas. Walker said he and Lucci were provoked by Smith and four companions as they lef t the bar.

Smith reportedly suffered a cut and bruises on his forehead, but refused medical attention.

The altercation follows a similar incident two weeks ago involving Lions quarterback Karl Sweetan.

Woman Lives To Describe Auto Accident

BOSTON (AP) — Judith Parrott, 24, has lived to describe how her car rammed a wire fence, and the top fence rail of 1½ inch pipe came through the windshield, and plunged through her chest, pinning her to the seat.

Mrs. Parrott had swerved to avoid a child who ran into the path of her car Thursday.

"I knew the pipe had gone through me," she said Friday at the hospital. "I told the children — Stephen, 7, Cathy, 3½—to get out of the car because I thought I was going to die."

A police rescue team sawed the pipe, front and back, and freed her from the car. The pipe had gone through the seat, too.

On arrival at Carney Hospital the chunk of pipe left in her slid to the floor.

Doctors cut away some bruised tissue and sewed her up. They said the pipe went through her shoulder between the ribs and shoulder bones. It didn't cut any arteries.

Doctors say she can go home in four or five days.

LBJ Ready to Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson checks out of the hospital today and heads for his Texas ranch to work, rest and recover from the dual operation he underwent Wednesday.

"He has the usual aches and pains of any postoperative period," said White House aide George Christian. "Other than that, he feels fine."

Johnson got the go-ahead from his doctors Friday for the flight back to Texas. "They are quite pleased that he is going to the ranch and get some rest," said press secretary Bill D. Moyers.

The President plans to leave his $45-a-day suite at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland about mid-day, going directly to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., to board the presidential jet without stopping at the White House.

FCC Receives Two Requests for Radio Transactions in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission reported Friday the receipt of these Wisconsin applicants:

Baraboo — Kenneth Howard Geise, for broadcast station, 990 kilocycles, 250 watts.

Richland Center—WRCO (AM-FM), for transfer of control from Hala D. Peebles to John F. Monroe.

Flaming Raccoon Causes Fire; Church

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A raccoon, his fur coat ablaze, strung a ring of fire around the nearby Enterprise Baptist church, burning the small building to the ground.

Deputy Sheriff Carl C. Coneley said the raccoon leaped out of a trash barrel Friday with his coat on fire a few minutes after a cleaning woman dumped burning debris into the container.

He said the animal ran through grass surrounding the building, setting the grass on fire. The blaze spread to the church.

Today in History

Today is Saturday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1966. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address.

On this date:

In 1794, the Jay Treaty was signed with Great Britain, adjusting the controversies left unsettled by the treaty that ended the Revolution.

In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt laid the cornerstone of his personal museum of his Hyde Park, N.Y., estate.

In 1941, British forces launched a surprise offensive in Libya and advanced 150 miles on the North African front.

In 1944, the Allies captured Gelsenkirchen, the northern pivot of the German line across the Cologne plain.

Ten years ago—Clare Boothe Luce resigned as ambassador to Italy because of ill health.

Five years ago—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived in Washington for three days of intensive talks with President Kennedy about possible negotiations with the Soviet Union on the Berlin crisis.

One year ago—A federal court handed down a conviction for the Communist party of the United States on charges of failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Decline Reported In Shipments to Cuba for Month

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A sharp decline in shipping from non-Communist countries to Cuba was reported today.

Only seven vessels from these areas touched Cuban ports last month, said Revolutionary Unity an exile organization which watches such movements. It said this is the smallest number since it began keeping count four years ago.

Listed as visiting Cuba in October were three ships from Cyprus, two from Great Britain and two from Greece.

This compares with 17 ships in September. Other October totals: 21 in 1965, 23 in 1964, and 26 in 1963.

Three Killed In Wisconsin Car Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of three persons in separate accidents during the weekend boosted Wisconsin's 1966 highway fatality toll to 967, or 66 more than on this date a year ago and ten over the same period in 1964, when a record 1,059 lost their lives on Wisconsin roads.

Robert Kozak, 20, of Milwaukee, a circulation driver for the Journal Company, was killed in a pre-dawn accident this morning when his newspaper delivery truck slammed into a bridge abutment on the North-South expressway.

Ted Lager, 19, of Kingsford, Mich., was injured fatally early today in a one car accident on Highway 32, one mile south of De Pere. Authorities said Lager, who worked in the Brillion area, was pinned in the wreckage of his car after it left the road and overturned. A passenger, 17-year-old Mary Peterman of Rt. 1, Brillion, was injured.

Edward L. Femrite, 35, of Madison, was killed Friday night when his car collided with a Chicago and North Western freight train in Madison.

Nationalism, Rightist Move Color Election in Germany

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Strong appeals to nationalism and the far right color Sunday's Bavarian election, whose outcome could determine who will be West Germany's next chancellor.

"Twenty years after the Hitler period, the international verdict of guilt should be revoked and we should be treated as a normal nation," declared Franz Josef Strauss, chairman of Christian Social Union, the Bavarian branch of the Christian Democratic party. Campaigning tirelessly, he has called on Germans to rediscover a national "feeling of identity."

Besides attracting attention because of the surge to the right, the Bavarian vote, comes at the height of a Bonn Cabinet crisis, and is expected to have a magnified effect on national politics.

Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the Christian Democrats' choice for chancellor, whose work in the Nazi radio propaganda department during World War II has been widely attacked, says the Bavarian outcome could be decisive in the close race between him and Socialist Willy Brandt to be chancellor.

A poor showing by Kiesinger's party in Bavaria could cut his chances, observers said. His party is locked in battle with the small National Democratic party, whose leaders include a number of former Nazis, to get the conservative vote.

A t stake in Bavaria are 204 legislative seats. The Christian Democrats have 110, the Socialists have 79, the Free Democrats have 10 and the Bavarian party has 5. A small gain for the Socialists and a small loss for the Christian Democrats have been forecast.

Blood Transfusion Will Not Change Character

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Relative to blood transfusions, there is a belief by some people that the patient acquires some characteristics of the donor.

If so, is it possible for a criminal donor to pass on his tendencies? Please explain how blood tends to fuse into the body and brain of the patient receiving it. — L.V.

I've answered this question briefly before, but it still seems to bother so many readers that perhaps it needs a more emphatic answer.

Dr. Molner

First of all, the permanent characteristics of a person are determined by the chromosomes, and the thousands or perhaps millions of genes contained in the original cell, half from the mother, half from the father.

True, the developing fetus may be damaged (as in birth defects) but this is damage, and not a change in fundamentals. Color of hair and eyes, shape of face and body, inherited strengths and weaknesses, are controlled by genes — not in any way by blood.

It has been customary to speak of "blood lines," a term which was used long before we had the faintest idea of what the genes are and how they behave, but that old expression still gives rise to a lot of false beliefs.

Blood — the fluid, and the cells in it — serves important purposes in the body. Mostly the blood is a "delivery service," carrying oxygen, sugar and other nutrients throughout the body, and carrying away debris and waste matter. The blood carries oxygen from the lungs: it carries carbon dioxide back to the lungs to be exhaled. It does a similar service with food. It also carries antibodies to fight off infection.

When you have a need for blood and require a transfusion, you don't keep that blood permanently. In a matter of three months or less, all of the transfused blood cells will have died off and been discarded by the body — that's the way the human system acts.

Gradually new cells will have replaced the old ones, and the new ones will be your own, created in the marrow of your bones.

Phrases about "blood lines," or "a taint in the blood" should be abolished from the language, because blood has nothing to do with the kind of people we are.

True, it is necessary to cross-match blood before a transfusion, because if the transfused blood is of a different type from that of the recipient, a chemical conflict results but this again has nothing to do with heredity or characteristics. There are only four main blood types — A, B, AB and O and everybody in the world is of one of these four types.

Firemen, Policemen Wait More Bargaining

MENASHA — Policemen are awaiting another meeting with the common council finance committee, and firemen plan a union membership meeting as city employe salaries for 1967 remain unsettled following a secret bargaining session Thursday night.

The finance committee met separately with bargaining representatives of each of the two groups and with bridgetenders' representatives in another in a series of closed-door meetings.

A spokesman for Professional Policemen's Association Local 34 said today the session left previous stands of the policeman and finance committee unchanged.

The policemen were joined Thursday night by their legal counsel, Atty. Jerry Bomier.

Menasha Fire Fighters Association Local 695, AFL-CIO, plans a membership meeting to discuss suggestions made last night.

The salary negotiations are major hurdles to be cleared before the city can adopt its 1967 budget. School teachers are also continuing negotiations with the school board.

The council has scheduled a special meeting as a committee of the whole for Monday night to review other portions of the budget aside from salaries, and the finance unit is scheduled to meet with the school board Tuesday night to continue discussions of suggested cuts in the school budget proposal.

Police representatives were promised another meeting with the finance committee in the next few days. Firemen said they doubted their membership meeting could be held before the end of deer hunting season, which starts Saturday.

City Clerk Harry Kind has announced he hopes to publish the tentative budget, including salaries, Nov. 26, so the public hearing on the budget can be held Dec. 6.

Selected for State Contest

Linda Lotzer Wins Voice of Democracy SMHS Competition

MENASHA — Linda Lotzer, a sophomore at St. Mary High School, was named winner in the Voice of Democracy contest Friday and her taped presentation of the original essay entitled "What Democracy Means to Me" will be entered in the state contest to be held in December.

Selection was made from seven school finalists who entered the 20th annual Voice of Democracy competition sponsored each year by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Auxiliary. Earl Mork, a member of Nicolet VFW is chairman of the local program. He will present medals to Linda and runners up Renee Wessenberg, second, and Becky Sewall, third.

Fifty students participated in the St. Mary contest under the direction of Miss Rosemary Trettin. To enter the competition a student had to submit an original essay developing the subject "What Democracy Means to Me." Judging was based on originality, content and delivery. Oral delivery can take from three to five minutes and the presentation must be suitable for radio programming. Radio station WNAM will make the final tape.

District Contest

The district contest will be judged in Manitowoc in early January and the state contest will be held Jan. 31. A state winner is eligible for a five-day all expense paid trip to Washington and for the national scholarships in the amount of $5,000, $3,000, $1,500 and $1,000.

Entered in Friday's competition were Renee Wessenberg, Becky Sewall, Mary Pfrang and Phil Daniel, seniors: Sue Rankin, junior and Linda Lotzer and Cheryl Draeger, sophomores.

Judges were Sister Mary Benedette and Sister Christa Marie, English instructors at St. Mary High School, and Mrs. Fern Smith, Twin City News-Record.

Cub Scouters Explore Evolution of Flight

MENASHA — Cub Scout Pack 55, St. Patrick Catholic Church, presented skits on the "Evolution of Flight at a meeting Thursday evening.

The boys dramatized flight beginning with umbrella jumping to a landing on Mars.

The program was a follow up of a weather balloon release Nov. 12 that was a part of the scouts' November theme, "Space". The scouts also toured the Outagamie County airport.

Planner Pollak Presents Four Exploratory Themes For Future of Downtown

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — Four concepts, one of which may become the foundation of a rebirth for downtown Menasha, have been presented by the city's master planner.

Jerry Pollak, planner for Victor Gruen Associated, unveiled the broad, preliminary proposals to members of the council and Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) Friday afternoon in the Menasha Hotel.

General Agreement

There was general agreement on most points on which the recommendations, each labelled "Concept-Exploratory," were based.

The fundamental concepts included:

The existing downtown business district pattern should be retained to a great extent.

Traffic should be kept outside the main shopping area, with through-traffic routed around the central core, on a loop of one-way streets.

A compact area should be considered, combining business, civic, recreational and parking functions.

The size of the city should be geared to an eventual population of 25,000 persons by 1985.

The "superblock" concept — a favorite of the Gruen firm in redevelopment projects such as that just begun in Green Bay and recently completed in Fresno, Calif—would be favored, centering on a central pedestrian area or mall.

Pollak also remarked upon the possibilities of putting the water resources to better use. A side-recommendation he offered for consideration was a convention-recreation center on the island featuring the area's nationally-famed paper industry.

All the proposals were made, he explained, while considering available federal aid programs which would help keep city expenses to a minimum. Private investment would also play a major role in putting a plan into action, Pollak said.

The city's problem he characterized as consisting of a deteriorating busisess district with lagging sales and lack of variety in merchandise and types of shops, complicated by an intricate traffic pattern that results in part from the rivers, canals and railroads.

Pollak saw opportunities, on the other hand, in the new development represented by the two recently built bank buildings and the savings and loan structure being erected, the presence of the Racine Street Park site near the business district, the unique "village square" in the heart of the business district, water resources and the existing national reputation of the city as a center for papermaking.

The alternate revitalization schemes he presented included 125,000 square feet of retail shopping space, parking stalls for 620 cars, 25,000 square feet of office space and additional room for city offices, police and fire department facilities and social, cultural and recreational facilities.

The combined retail and office space would cover about 15 acres, compared with an existing 3.75 acres currently devoted to those purposes in the area studied.

The plans were presented in rough form, with specific details to be added as the planning study goes ahead. The work, which Pollak described as being "at mid-point" is part of two phases of a five-phase plan. Local financing made it possible for the Gruen firm to undertake the $8,000 initial studies.

The city's application for two-thirds aid on an additonal $40,000 in planning is currently being held up by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Revewal (HUD).

A key portion of the federally assisted studies will be an economic survey of the city's potential, which Pollak said will give a better idea of how extensive a downtown business district the city can support.

His proposals were based on economic information collected previously by business groups, the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission and planning study made by Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates serveral years ago.

As Inexpensively as Possible

Bank Conversion Put to Planner

MENASHA — The city's master planner does not discourage conversion of the present city offices and former First National Bank into a municipal building, but he says the job should be done as inexpensively as possible.

During a four-hour presentation of the city's preliminary planning study "at mid-point," Jerry Pollak, of Victor Gruen Associates, gave his opinion of the renovation proposal to Mayor Kenneth Holmes.

The planner told the mayor he agreed the city had an immediate need for more office space and suggested that the city might "go ahead and try to develop it as cheaply as possible."

But, he added, the measure should be looked upon as temporary, since the master plan should be put in effect within five to eight years to be successful, and should include a numicipal building complex.

He told the mayor it was up to the city to determine what to spend on renovating the two buildings and whether the estimated cost of $170,000 would be reasonable.

The planner's advice was also sought on a number of other matters of current importance that effect the long-range plan.

Conferred Briefly

Library board members conferred briefly with the planner after his presentation, which was attended by the Menasha Redevelopment Authority and aldermen. Pollak showed the library trustees four exploratory concepts prepared in rough form so far, with a different site for a new library designated on each.

Trustees had hoped for a clear indication of Pollak's feelings on their proposal to put a new library in Racine Street Park, but were told it would be up to the council to pick one concept and thus one site from the four.

Pollak expressed confidence that available means of financing, including federal assistance, would make it possible for the city to carry out the plan it chooses without straining its bonding powers to the limit.

Of the cities with which he has worked on planning and redevelopment, Pollack said, "I have yet to have a city go into a bond election in the last five years."

Joint Effort

He told councilmen and commissioners the city is "a satellite community" to Appleton, and its redevelopment effort should be based on this assumption. He recommended "some kind of joint effort with Neenah" as one means of saving money. Neenah is currently considering a master planning study.

The planner warned against inaction. He alluded to other projects currently being planned which could affect the city's future well-being. The proposed bridge across Little Lake Butte Des Morts, he said, could work for or against the city, either by bringing more people downtown to shop and do business, or to help them leave town, depending on what the city does about its problems.

"Chances are, it will cost the city more not to do something than to do something," said Pollak.

Community Chest Drive Hits 70 Per Cent; Will Continue

NEENAH - MENASHA — The thermometers at Bergstrom's in Neenah and on the square in Menasha, recording the local Community Chest drive, rose today at $142,444.64, or 70 per cent of the $203,164 goal.

There is one encouraging note, since last year at this time the drive had reached 66 per cent of its goal.

The 4.7 per cent rise in pledges for support of Neenah and Menasha's 14 service agencies could be attributed almost entirely to the $8,000 tallied by the corporate division. It reported $94,434, a 15 per cent increase over last year at this time.

Asked to raise 60 per cent of the $203,614 goal the corporations and their employes are now within $2,750 of assuming their full responsibility.

Three more divisions are up, according to this week's report. They are the professional group with $4,368; government, $3,525, and mercantile, $2,775.

Running below last year's figures at this point are: classified at $3,770; general solicitation, $1,351 and special gifts $32,225.

Richard Widmann said Thursday, "The drive will continue until our goal is reached."

Rehabilitation Problems Cited

NEENAH — The greatest concern of people involved in the rehabilitation of injured and aging men and women is the lack of understanding on the part of those who can help, Donald L. Albertson, district director for the American Rehabilitation Foundation told Rotarians Thursday.

"Modern science's answer to 'the illness which will not go away' is to exert every effort to restore a patient as nearly as possible to his or her former condition after suffering a chronic disability," the speaker explained.

"Such disability may be the result of a stroke (2 million Americans are living to tell about such an attack; as accident, principally automobile; chronic illness, such as arthritis; or aging.

"Advances in medicine have contributed greatly to the problem of rehabilitating the aging," Albertson said.

"The human body is not designed to support the added years which medicine today is making possible."

There are 36 million persons over 65 living in this country today; one out of every 170 children born today are cerebral palsied and there are more than one-half million victims of multiple sclerosis, according to the speaker.

A team approach is required to bring these people as far as possible along the path of recovery and usefulness.

"It takes the combined efforts of the doctor, the physical therapist, the occupational therapist, the speech therapist, the rehabilitation nurse, the medical technician, the recreational therapist, the clergy, the medical social worker, places where they can work with their hands and people to run the programs," Ablertson said.

"Two things are vital if we are to give back any portion of their lives to these people," he concluded. "Everyone must fully recognize his responsibility in the matter, help with the treatment and provide a place for this person to be productive; and take time out to show it in our attitude toward the disabled that we care."

Lawrence Man Enters Abandoned Church; Companion Offers Aid Until Help Arrives

An 18-year-old Lawrence University student suffered a severe skull injury when he fell about 30 feet through the false ceiling of an abandoned church about 4:15 p.m. Friday.

He was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulance, police said.

According to police Andrew Klein, Louisville, Ky., and a companion, Bruce Campbell, 18, Brighton, Ill., entered the old Presbyterian Church at College Avenue and Drew Street to retrieve a pair of flood lights mounted on a rafter over the old altar.

Campbell told police they gained entrance to the building by climbing a board fence placed around the building by the contractor to keep persons from the premises.

The church was recently purchased by the university and has been scheduled for razing. He said they were going to mount the flood lights in their dormitory rooms.

Campbell said he led the way as they climbed to the rafter. He said he was reaching for one of the lights when he heard a sound and saw a hole in the ceiling. He worked his way back and looking through the opening, saw Klein lying on the altar floor. He told police he gave mouth - to - mouth resuscitation until Klein showed signs of responding. He ran to the Lawrence Dispensery and had the nurse call an ambulance. He returned to Klein and continued the resuscitation until the ambulance arrived.

Off at Midnight

Alderman on LBJ Kick Says 'Save on Lights'

An Appleton alderman is on an LBJ "save on the lights" campaign.

Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) has authored two resolutions calling for soft lights — without music — in some parts of the city.

He says with the installation of a new lighting system when College Avenue is reconstructed, half the lights should be turned off at midnight or shortly after.

And Ballard Road, which Radder has referred to with tongue-in-cheek as "Appleton's white way," should have its number of lights reduced after 11 p.m.

"It does not seem practical to have the present amount of lights burning during the night," Radder says.

A check with the city electrical division disclosed the new College Avenue lighting system makes allowance for turning off half the lamps at midnight.

It would indicate the planners "saw the light" before Radder did.

Construction Up Slightly

Appleton's ailing residential construction industry received a tonic during October with permits for 20 new homes issued by the department of inspection.

However, the total was down for this time of the year when there is an annual rush to get structures up and closed in for winter completion.

New building started here this past month amounted to $691,023, according to Building Inspector Richard Atkins, who said the figure was below average compared to comparable periods for recent years.

The $120,000 addition to the Scolding Locks Corp. plant represented the largest single construction project started in Appleton last month.

Committe Forms to Study School Merger

BRILLION — All phases of a possible merger of the Hilbert, Stockbridge and Brillion school districts will be studied by a nine-man committee formed here Thursday.

The committee consists of the three school superintendents and two representatives from each school board. Its initial meeting will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1, in Hilbert.

Included in the study will be the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed merger and a consideration of the type of format to be used in presenting information to residents of the three districts.

The committee was formed at the same time Cooperative Education Service Agency 10 (CESA) was asked to delay action on the petition for detachment of a portion of the Stockbridge district and attachment to the Chilton district.

CESA's decision on the petition was expected to be announced Nov. 28.

Talk of possibly building a centrally located high school to serve Stockbridge, Hilbert and Brillion began in September just after the detachment petition was filed and just after a $1.35 million school bond referendum vote was defeated, 770-340, at Brillion.

An attempt to offer better educational facilities enabling the students in this area to compete with graduates of larger schools, crowded classrooms at Hilbert and Brillion and possible future influx of some parochial school students at all three schools, prompted the merger talks in September.

Question Youths In Burglary of Officers Home

NEENAH — Police are questioning three juveniles in connection with two house breakins, one at a policeman's residence, Friday evening.

A small file cabinet was taken in the break-in of policeman Gene Tuchscherer's home at 943 W. Cecil St. Police later found the cabinet in a vacant lot in the 200 block of Meadow Lane, minus about $90.

Entrance to Tuchscherer's residence was gained by smashing a window in the rear door. The cabinet was taken from a hall closet.

The other break-in occurred at the Thomas Drews' home, 1534 Ames St. The burglars broke a bedroom window and then ransacked the drawers throughout the home. Nothing was reported missing.

The three youths being questioned include two 16-year-olds and one 15-year-old.

CATV Stirs Again In Appleton Area

Philadelphia Firm Adds Request to 10 Applications Already on File

Commercial community antenna television (CATV) is stirring again in Appleton, and possibly the other Fox Cities.

The Jerrold Electronics Corp., Philadelphia, is the latest to apply.

About 10 applications for the Appleton CATV franchise have been pending before the Appleton Council and have been in committee for several months.

An almost identical situation exists in the Twin Cities of Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and other communities throughout the Fox Valley.

Get Letter

In a letter written by Frank N. Cooper, Jerrold Corp. franchise director, to the mayor and council, the request was made that if Appleton does not have CATV it should immediately contact the Philadelphia firm, which is prepared to make the city an offer.

Writing Ordinance

By coincidence, the Philadelphia firm wrote the city at a time when a CATV ordinance, being firmed up, is expected to be presented to the city council in the near future.

Although terms of the ordinance have not been disclosed, it is known they are stiff and call for the city to receive a much larger share of revenue than proposed in the past by any CATV operator hoping to get a franchise here.

Control Rates

Under the proposed local ordinance, rates to subscribers would also be controlled by the city.

Some aldermen have viewed the proposed ordinance as a move to discourage some of the CATV firms from wanting to locate here while insuring if a franchise ever is granted, the city would have one of the best setups in the country — financially and otherwise.

Cooper says the Jerrold Corp. built the first commercial community antenna television system in the United States, pointing out that 1,688 municipalities now have the service and more than 1,500 additional communities have granted franchises and are awaiting construction.

$5 a Month Charge

He spoke of bringing Appleton closed-circuit television via cable which would feature locally originated programming, pointing out that with a $5 a month charge to subscribers the cable system is able to pass on additional revenue and employment to the community.

Improves Pictures

Cooper claimed CATV, which has not been able to crack the Fox Valley as yet, is in operation in several other Wisconsin communities, including the northern part of the state where there are fringe reception areas.

He also informed local officials that a cable system would bring the viewer more television pictures than the average home owner can normally obtain.

Cooper said his firm would be in a position to provide Appleton with CATV service within a year.

He noted, however, that installation of a CATV system here would be subject to federal regulations which were tightened extensively this past summer by the Federal Communication Commission.

Judge Offers Alcoholic Treatment Term to Man In Lieu of Jail Sentence

A 48-year-old Appleton man, charged with disorderly conduct after he threatened his wife, Friday afternoon was sentenced to the Outagamie County jail for 30 days with the recommendation that he voluntarily commit himself to the alcoholic treatment department at Winnebago State Hospital.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the sentence on Leon Panzer, 503 W. Spring St., arrested Sept. 26 by Appleton police following a complaint by his wife.

Panzer pleaded guilty Sept. 27 and was ordered committed to Central State Hospital, Waupun, for examination. Panzer had indicated that he wished to undergo treatment for a drinking problem.

Judge Keller said he would grant Panzer out-probation if the man committed himself to Winnebago State Hospital for 30 days.

At Green Bay Center

Civil Rights Drama Has Stunning Impact

BY JACK RUDOLPH

GREEN BAY — That theater of substance and vitality is being produced at the U. W. Center-Green Bay, and that the community possesses the youthful talent to sustain it, was emphasized again Friday night as a large and dedicated cast opened a six-performance run of "And People All Around," under the direction of Dr. Jack E. Frisch.

George Sklar's drama, based on the murder of three civil rights workers in Mississippi in 1964, is a powerful and distrubing play. The audience that filed quietly out of the Center's music-drama room after two absorbing hours was visibly shaken.

While the play tells the story of the triple killing that shocked the world, the tragedy itself is not the point of the drama. Rather, it is a framework upon which Sklar has dramatically woven the question of total involvement of civil rights through the conscience of a young white Southerner.

"And People All Around" will be repeated tonight and Sunday at 8:15 as well as next weekend. Tickets are available at the door, although they may become scarce as the word gets around.

Because the basic situation of the play has been so well publicized, Sklar pays the penalty of topical immediacy by a lack of suspense, yet his work is still strong enough to shake an audience. Sklar pulls no punches, although the issues are generally presented in pure black and white (no pun intended; the statement is true in more ways than one). Some of the devices used are perhaps overly theatrical but they work.

Thrilling Impact

Another notable aspect was the work of the chorus, a device unabashedly borrowed from Greek tragedy, presented with straightforward simplicity and thrilling impact. The precision and force of the sextet was amazingly effective.

Since Dr. Frisch lacked Negroes to play the necessary roles — the play, in fact, is being produced for the first time with an all-white cast — he was faced with a problem of identification and contrast. His solution was the use of painted masks.

An ingenious device and legitimate gamble, it did not, in my opinion, quite come off. The masks imposed a barrier between audience and characters, gave them an unreality that robbed them of immediacy and kept intruding throughout. However, this is admittedly a personal reaction and open to question.

A stark drama, the play was starkly mounted, with few props and a largely bare stage. Lighting and sound effects were carefully and effectively utilized to round out the projection of violence, bigotry and tragic inevitability.

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The only four seniors on Xavier High School's youth-accented basketball roster provided the steadying influence and the scoring punch as the Hawks tripped Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, 61-47, in an erratically-played non-conference opener here Friday night.

Gene Jack scored the evening's top total of 18 points to pace the Hawks to victory in the first of two weekend games. Tonight, Xavier invades the Marshfield Columbus gym.

Jack's fellow senior starters, Tom Heinritz and Dan Hardy, came through with 15 points apiece. Top reserve Terry Graff added six points. The only Hawk points not coined by seniors were Junior Pat Fitzgerald's six and sophomore Bob Fullarton's one.

The Hawks and the Royals shot only .323 and .354, respectively, from the floor — and both teams were guilty of frequent turn-overs.

Sink 19 Free Tosses

Xavier manufactured its margin of victory from the free throw line. Outscored, 23 to 21 on field goals, the Hawks sank 19 of 29 free shots — for a .655 accuracy rate. Incredibly, Assumption managed to mesh only one free throw in the game. The Royals missed on eight other chances — to wind up with a free-tossing average of .111.

Jim Weinbauer, who popped in four early shots from 25 feet or more away, finished with seven goals (in 21 attempts) for Assumption's top total of 14 points. Dick Hyland tallied 12 points — with four of his baskets coming in the final period without a miss.

The Hawks, who trailed much of the first quarter, failed to sink their first 1966-7 basket until Jack pried off the cover with 4 minutes, 20 seconds gone. Xavier took a 9-8 lead, as Fitzgerald followed up his own field miss, with 1:42 left in the first period.

Assumption took what was to be its final lead when Charlie Fenske connected on a hook shot, with 1:19 remaining in the quarter. Twelve seconds later, Heinritz tipped in a rebound for an 11-10 Xavier lead — and the Hawks were never headed.

Xavier increased its 13-10 first quarter lead to 28-19 at halftime and 42-31 after three periods.

Each team was able to sink only nine of 33 field shots in the first half. The Royals fired repeatedly from long range as Xavier's 2-3 zone took its toll. The Hawks, with better position on most of their shots, were just plain "cold."

Both quints zeroed in more effectively in the second half — as Assumption made good on 14 of 32 shots, and Xavier sank 12 of 32.

Drops in Five

Jack hit the mark on six of 16 attempts — with most of his baskets coming from 15-25 feet away. He was perfect on six free throws. Heinritz, who displayed a number of good moves, sank five of nine shots from the field and five of six from the foul line.

Hardy, effective as a rebounder, made five of 14 shots

Kavanaugh Scores 32 Points As Kaukauna Deals West Bend 94-72, Non-Conference Loss

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna High School Ghosts shocked West Bend by hitting their first six shots from the floor Friday night and going on to rout the Badgers, 94-72, in a free-wheeling non-conference season opener for both schools

Displaying some dazzling shooting for an opening game, the Ghosts grabbed a 12-2 lead in the first three minutes and assumed a command that was never in jeopardy. By the end of the first quarter the margin had zoomed to 30-13, and Coach Ken Vander Velden's five held a comfortable 51-36 halftime edge.

Leading the Ghosts' offensive explosion was guard Pat Kavanaugh, who fired in 32 points for the night. The scrappy 5-11 senior guard was deadly with a medium range jump shot, in addition to driving West Bend guards crazy with his floor play. He stole the ball at least four times from Badger backcourt men and converted them into easy buckets, and was Johnny-on-the-spot to pick up many errant passes and loose balls.

Six in a Row

Kavanaugh hit 19 of his points in the first half, on nine field goals and a free toss that completed a 3-point play. At one stage in the third quarter, he tallied six points in a row on a tip-in, a steal, and a driving lay-up.

But the rest of Kavanaugh's mates were not without scoring punch, as four other Kaukauna players also hit double figures. Second high was 6-2 junior Richard Carstens, who accounted for 14 markers in a relief role and gave the Ghosts a much needed lift on the boards in the second and fourth periods. John Vandehey hit for 13, and Joe Schouten and Quint VandenHeuvel each contributed 12 in a well-balanced attack.

Coach Newell Nelson found two bright spots in seniors Allan Eggert and Don Schneiss, who paced the Badgers' assault with 22 and 18 points, respectively. Schneiss is the only returning letterman from last year's squad, and the inexperience of the Badgers showed up in the gaudy number of times they lost the ball on mistakes.

West Bend was guilty of 26 turnovers in the contest, nine of which came in the loosely-played third quarter. It appeared the Badgers might make a game of it in the early moments of that frame, when a full-court press helped pull the Little Ten

Raiders Outscore St. Mary, 14-4, In Extra Period

Post-Crescent News Service

PULASKI — Pulaski's Red Raiders staged a brilliant overtime exhibition in dowing Menasha St. Mary, 75 to 65, here Friday night.

The Raiders, outscored 23 to 12 in the first quarter, outplayed the Zephyrs in the remaining three to force the game into an overtime decision. In overtime, Pulaski netted 14 points to Menasha's four.

Leading the scoring for Pulaski was Craig Banaszynski who tallied 16 on seven field goals and two free tosses. Leading St. Mary was Mike Heroux, with 18 points on eight goals and two gift throws.

The game was highlighted by the last second jump shot by George Erdman from the top of the circle which threw the game into a 61-61 deadlock. Pulaski's Gary Gajewski tossed in seven straight free throws in the overtime period to seal the victory.

Arizona Asks NFL To Revoke Drafting Of Brad Hubbert

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The University of Arizona said Friday it will ask the National Football League to revoke the drafting of halfback Brad Hubbert by the Detroit Lions.

School officials said Hubbert was not eligible for Thursday's supplemental draft in which 24 red-shirt players were selected by American and National football league teams.

A school spokesman explained that Hubbert is a junior, not a senior, as Detroit must have assumed. He said Hubbert had enrolled for six hours credit at San Diego State while in the Marines but did not complete the work.

Manitowoc Quint Blasts Two Rivers

TWO RIVERS — Manitowoc's Shipbuilders spotted Two Rivers a 2-0 lead but then tallied the next 18 points, setting the stage for a 71-33 rout of the Raiders in a non-conference game here Friday night.

The Mid-Eastern Wisconsin Conference entry was never in the contest after the opening onslaught, as the Ships built up a 40-point lead at 69-29 late in the closing period.

Bob Hackbarth paced the Fox River Valley Conference member with 15 point.

Neenah Tips Oshkosh; as Handler Star

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — Extending a 4-point halftime lead to 19 at the end of three periods, Neenah High School vanquished Oshkosh, 72-52, in the opener for both clubs here Friday night.

Coach Doug Martin's Rockets held a precarious 31-27 lead at the intermission but hooped the first nine points of the second half to move ahead by 13.

When the visitors chopped the difference to nine, the hosts broke out with a period-ending string of 10 for a 56-37 score going into the final segment.

Oshkosh attempted to fight back in the early going of final segment and put together nine straight points but it was unable to get the spread under a dozen and Neenah chalked up a 12-4 bulge in the final couple of minutes as both coaches cleared the benches.

A typical first game marked with missed easy baskets, loose floor play and at times shoddy defense, frequently the Indians lost the ball on interceptions or inept passing without getting a shot off and Neenah took advantages of the miscues to tally.

Never Lead

The Indians never had the lead and the Mid-Eastern Conference entry scored seven points before they got on the scoreboard almost halfway through the initial period.

A couple of times Neenah had 8-point spreads in the second quarter but scoring six of the last eight markers, the visitors pared to two baskets at the game mid-point.

Three Rocket starters hit in double figures and two others only missed it by two points.

Larry Handler, who had eight of his team's 16 points in the last quarter, led the way with 20. Gary Losse posted 15 and Jim Fetters checked in with 12. Scoring eight apiece were Dan Jankowski and Al Ross, the fifth starter, a boy who played church league ball last year.

Kleinschmidt Hits 22

Game laurels went to the Indians' Bob Kleinschmidt, their only returning letterman, with 22 points, all on field goals. He made 8 of his club's 10 points in the third frame and all four of the fielders. Jon Weber was next with 10

Unofficially, Neenah made 29 of 71 field goal attempts for about 41 per cent accuracy. Oshkosh hit at a 36 per cent clip, canning 21 of 59.

Oshkosh was sharper from the free throw line, netting 10 of 13. Neenah had 11 more attempts and potted 14 of 24.

The Indians entertain Kimberly tonight while Neenah's next outing is against Wausau here Wednesday night.

Diener Scores 28 As Fond du Lac Edges Menasha

Inexperienced Jays Use Control Game for 5-Point Halftime Lead

MENASHA — Dick Diener poured in 28 points to pace Fond du Lac High School to a 47-44 non-conference triumph over Menasha in their non-conference opener here Friday night.

Playing a control-type game, the inexperienced Bluejays, who went into the campaign without a returning letterman, owned a 25-20 halftime lead.

They were held to seven points in the third segment — all in the first half of the frame — while the favored Cardinals picked up 16.

Menasha was on the long end of a 32-29 score with 4:02 left in the stanza but it lost the advantage at 33-32 with 35 seconds remaining. Diener put in a basket and Al Warner added a free throw to up the count to 36-32 going into the last eight minutes.

The visitors were in front all the way in the final period but were almost on the ropes a couple of times in the last two minutes.

Conway Scores

Trailing, 45-40 with 2:09 left, the Jays' Kevin Conway dropped in a jump shot and at the 1:32 mark he added another fielder to cut the spread to a single point at 45-44.

Diener was fouled with 1:02 left and made the first free throw and the bonus. The Jays lost the ball on a violation and Diener missed the first throw on a one-and-one with 31 seconds to play but Fond du Lac claimed the rebound.

Just eight seconds later, Diener again was fouled and again he failed to add two more points to the total by missing the initial attempt. Menasha rebounded and Conway was fouled with 10 seconds left but also failed on his first free throw. Fondy grabbed the rebound and held on in the waning seconds.

Diener whipped up his 28 points, on nine field goals and 10 free throws in 13 attempts He had 10 of his team's 12 second quarter points. Gene Shealer was a distant runnerup with seven points.

Jensen Tops MHS

Steve Jensen topped the Bluejays with 13 points, on five baskets and three free throws. Conway added 11, including eight in the fourth period. Tom Kenney dropped in seven.

Both teams made 17 field goals but Fondy canned 13 of 19 free throw attempts while Coach Barry Ewald's charges had to settle for 10 of 18.

Fond du Lac will entertain Kaukauna tonight, while Menasha's next start will be at Manitowoc Tuesday night.

Dickinson and Knudson Even

Share Lead at Houston; Sanders, Littler 1 Behind

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A trip to Tokyo might just have been the right prescription to cure George Knudson's golf ills.

The skinny Canadian, a non-winner on the pro circuit this year, had a good crack at the $21,000 first prize money in the Houston Champions International Golf Tournament today.

The 29-year-old Canadian and Gardner Dickinson, Jr., another thin man who looks like he just came out of a pencil sharpener, shared the halfway lead by a stroke at 136—six under par—in the pressure-packed pursuit of $110,000 in prize money.

Knudson is fresh from his victory last week over Jack Nicklaus and Arnie Palmer, among other internationalists, in the individual part of the Canada Cup competition at Tokyo.

Knudson had five birdies and two bogeys in registering a three under-par 34-34—68 to go with his opening 68.

Dickinson, a 5-foot-11, 130-pounder from Alabama but playing out of Los Tree Village, Fla., pitched his way to a four-under-par 35-32—67 to go with his 69.

Doug Sanders, with 70-67, and Gene Littler, with 71-66, were just a stroke off the pace with 137.

There were eight at 138 including Arnie Palmer, who had a fine 34-34—68 with his opening 70. The others in the challenging bracket were Al Geiberger, Julius Boros, Dick Crawford, Charley Sifford, Jack Rule, Jr., Bob Goalby, and Jack Burke, co-owner of the host club.

The 139 group included Billy Casper, Miller Barber and George Archer. Casper, with a 36-34—70, picked up a stroke on Nicklaus, who said he played "lousy" in getting a par 37-34—71. Nicklaus had 140.

Koufax Quits At Height Of Career

Arthritis-Plagued Star Doesn't Want to Risk Permanent Damage

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A tremendous question mark hovers over the future of the National League champion Dodgers. Sandy Koufax has retired.

Superb Sandy, acclaimed as perhaps the greatest left hand pitcher in baseball history and certainly the finest in the major leagues today, made official Friday what had long been rumored.

At 30, after his winningest season, Koufax is quiting rather than pitch another season with the pain of his chronically arthritic left elbow.

"I feel I can't risk the chance of completely disabling myself," the handsome dark-haired bachelor told a news conference in Beverly Hills.

"I was told that if I kept on pitching I could do a good job of permanent damage.

"I've got a lot of years to live after baseball and I want to be sure of the complete use of my body."

Koufax earned a reported

$125,000 in 1966 with the Los Angeles club, and could have commanded much more for 1967.

A Poor Second

But money comes a poor second to a bad arm and, said Sandy, the Dodgers couldn't offer enough to make him continue to play—or change his mind about retiring.

"My decision is irrevocable."

Technically, Sandy asked to be placed on the club's voluntary retired list, which, said Dodger vice president E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, makes the Koufax retirement automatic.

Bavasi did not attend the Koufax-called press conference and was indeed sharply critical because Sandy declined to wait to make the announcement until Dodger president Walter F. O'Malley returns home from Japan Sunday.

"I think he owed Walter the courtesy of waiting," said Bavasi. "What was three more days?

"After all," Bavasi exclaimed, "Walter made it possible for Sandy to retire at the age of 30."

Advised of Bavasi's reaction, Koufax said he had wanted to

Packers Hopes Resume March Toward Title

Dangerous Bears Invade Green Bay Sunday Afternoon

By KEN HARTNETT

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, out to resume a march they hope will lead to another National Football League title, engage the erratic but always dangerous Chicago Bears Sunday.

The Packers, whose title drive was stalled two weeks ago by Fran Tarkenton and the Minnesota Vikings, will be up against a team they humiliated 17-0 in an encounter Oct. 16 in Chicago.

Green Bay, tied for the Western Conference lead with Baltimore, accomplished the shutout by stifling Gale Sayers, the heart of the Chicago offense.

Sayers was held to only 26 yards rushing in that game as the Packers cut off his alleys to the outside. The Bears posed no threat to the Green Bay middle and were unable to mount a passing attack against the air-tight Packer secondary.

Chicago quarterback Rudy Bukich, who has said this will be his final season, is ranked 16th in the league in passing, although he threw two touchdown passes in a 30-30 tie with San Francisco last Sunday. Bukich has completed 96 of 208 passes for 1,162 yards and five touchdowns. Thirteen of his throws have been intercepted.

Ranked No. 1

His quarterback rival, Bart Starr, is ranked No. 1 with 113 completions in 176 attempts for 1,723 yards and 10 touchdowns. Only three Starr passes have been stolen.

The Packers, 7-2 for the season, have been vulnerable only to scramblers this season, a category which does not include Bukich.

The Bears, with a 3-4-2 record, have not been particularly prodigal at giving up points.

But the offense, threatening only when Sayers has the ball, has been the Bears' undoing.

While the Chicago defense has yielded 163 points — 62 more than the Packers — the offense has been able to generate only 134 — 99 less than Green Bay has scored.

The Packers, well rested after a bye last Sunday, should be at full strength with the possible exception of Paul Hornung. The veteran halfback has not played since being injured while scoring a touchdown in the first Chicago game. Elijah Pitts, his understudy, has performed well in his place and may start again, whether or not Hornung is ready.

Defensive end Doug Atkins, who missed two complete games with a leg injury, is ready to go but Brian Schweda could start in his place. Tackle Riley Mattson is also suffering leg miseries and is a doubtful starter.

The game is the 96th between the NFL's oldest rivals. The Bears hold a 53-36 edge in the series. The teams split their games a year ago.

Reveal Bruhn's Confrontation With UW Official

Remington Says Situation Was Discussed But No Coercion Used

By JAMES R. POLK

MADISON (AP) — Bowing out as Wisconsin football coach was Milt Bruhn's own decision — but possibly not his idea alone.

Seeping to the surface today were accounts of a Thursday confrontation between Bruhn and the university administration. What resulted was not so much a dismissal or a resignation as it was a surrender.

Law Prof. Frank Remington, chairman of the university's athletic board, confirmed he and Bruhn had met to discuss what Remington described as "the football situation."

"But," the professor quickly added, "there was no threat, coercion or other force used."

Bonnie Ryan, sports writer for Madison's Capital Times, traced the prod to university president Fred Harvey Harrington and wrote in a front-page story Friday: "Bruhn was sacked."

Harrington replied, "I did not ask him to resign. I did not fire him."

In Harrington's Place

Remington said the meeting was set up by Harrington, but said he attended in the university president's place.

Remington confirmed Bruhn left the meeting with resignation in his mind, but said, "As you know, Coach Bruhn has said the decision was his decision."

Remington added, "We talked about the football situation generally. Everyone is aware that in a losing situation there were all kinds of pressure developing, but these were not in terms of the kind of decision that he made."

Bruhn, coach at Wisconsin for 11 years, still had a winning record, but his last three seasons were losing ones.

The 54-year-old coach had told newsmen after his resignation Thursday that he did not begin thinking about quitting until 9:30 that morning. The time, it later developed, coincided with the confrontation with Remington.

The athletic board had deadlocked a year ago on Bruhn's dismissal after a 2-7-1 campaign and Harrington won the coach a one-season reprieve from the Board of Regents.

Wisconsin had a 2-6-1 record going into this fall's finale with Minnesota today and the athletic board was scheduled to meet again next Tuesday.

Remington confirmed the board had planned to "review the coaching situation," but added, "I would be in no position to know what the decision would have been at that time."

Remington explained that he had denied at midday Thursday that he knew anything of a pending resignation by Bruhn because he wanted to permit Bruhn to make the announcement himself. It was the graceful way to do it.

All the subtleties involved in Bruhn's surrender remain a bit indistinct around the edges, but observers noted also that the university had gracefully avoided the bloodshed of an athletic board showdown next week.

It appeared Bruhn had made the graceful sacrifice.

Koufax Says He's Retiring

make the disclosure before Bavasi left for a two-week vacation in Hawaii, but Buzzie persuaded him not to. Bavasi felt he could make a better deal—with Sandy still on the roster—at the league meetings in December.

90 Per Cent Sure

Koufax said he told Bavasi late in the season he was 90 per cent sure this would be his last, and in the last month he told Bavasi he was 100 per cent sure of it.

"There's no question Sandy did the right thing — but he should have waited a few more days," Bavasi conceded.

But Koufax observed: "My only regret after 12 years in baseball is leaving it."

He surprised listeners when he said he has no real plans for the future. He said he'd like to stay in Los Angeles and he might be interested in remaining in baseball as a radio or television commentator.

At least one New York radio station put in a quick bid for him.

"But I wouldn't want to travel with a club when I knew I couldn't pitch," he added.

The elbow trouble started in a game at Milwaukee Aug. 8, 1964, when he skidded on it while sliding back to second base on a teammate's missed bunt.

"I'm not generally in the area of second base," Sandy quipped. A good hitter he is not.

Koufax retires with a host of records. Three times he won the Cy Young Award — which no other hurler has won more than once—and four times he pitched no-hit, no-run games, one a perfect job.

Baseball's strikeout king fanned more than 300 batters in three different years; he was the winningest pitcher the past three, with a 27-9 in 1966—bum arm and all. He also beat the New York Yankees twice and the Minnesota Twins twice in World Series games.

Fourth Starter

What about the Dodgers without him next year?

"Some one will take my place. Maybe the Dodgers will need a fourth starting pitcher, but if they can come up with another kid like Don Sutton, they'll be all right," he replied.

Sandy, with hearty laughter, admitted the Dodgers had made no move to keep him on as a hitter.

Meanwhile, praise for dandy Sandy came from all areas of baseball.

In Tokyo, owner O'Malley said the club will not try to dissuade Koufax from his decision. "We wish Sandy great happiness and good health in retirement.

Manager Walter Alston, who is concluding a tour of Japan with the Dodgers, observed: "He was possibly the greatest pitcher ever in baseball. I hate to see him go."

And Leo Durocher, Chicago Cubs' manager and former Dodger manager and coach, declared:

"He's the best pitcher I've ever seen. There's no chance the Dodgers can win the pennant now."

Miller, Olivo Direct Attack

Hurricanes Blitz Iowa, 44-0

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Hurricanes, continuing a November blitz that stamps them as one of the nation's toughest teams, smashed Iowa 44-0 Friday with an attack that may have attracted the attention of the bowl scouts.

Alternating at quarterback, Bill Miller and David Olivo directed a ground-air assault that piled up 428 yards, while Miami's magnificent defense kept the Hawkeyes under strict control.

The Hurricanes had slipped early in the season, losing two games to Louisiana State and Florida State by a grand total of five points.

Then coach Charlie Tate's brawlers, coming on like gangbusters, whipped two of the top ten teams—Southern California and Georgia—and have a 6-2-1 record going into next Saturday's big one with Florida.

Miller, hitting seven of 10 passes for 127 yards in the first 21 minutes, directed the Hurricanes to a 21-0 lead, with John Acuff scoring once from the four and Joe Mira twice from the 19 and the seven.

Returning briefly in the third, Miller hit Larry LaPointe with a 10-yard scoring pass. Then David Olivo concluded the touch down barrage with throws of four yards to Don Russo and five yards to Jim Cox in the final period.

Olivo, usually a running quarterback, hit seven of 10 passes for 63 yards.

Joe Mira, brother of Miami's All-America George Mira now with the San Francisco 49ers, led the Hurricane rushers with 65 yards, followed closely by Acuff and Bob Domke. Cox hauled in six passes and Russo five.

The score was the biggest piled up by a Miami team since 1955, when the Hurricanes beat Bucknell 46-0.

The top games tonight match Tulane and Louisiana State in a Southeastern Conference battle, Texas Western and New Mexico State, Arizona and Iowa State and Arizona State and New Mexico.

Stang Connects For 39 Points in Overtime Battle

OMRO — Led by the 39-point production of Jeff Stang, the Omro Foxes nipped Berlin, 64-63, in a non-conference overtime chiller here Friday night as both teams opened their 1966-7 campaigns.

The sharp-shooting guard poured in 16 of the team's 17 third-quarter markers to bring the Foxes back from a 31-29 halftime deficit to a 46-43 third period advantage, then added all eight points in the overtime frame, the last coming on a free throw with :18 remaining, to pace the victory.

Joe Jungwirth was the only other Omro player to hit in double figures as he had 10. Sievers lead the losers with 18.

The victim, Gregory Phelps, was hurt on a kickoff tackle Oct 22 while playing for Rancocas Valley Regional High School against John F. Kennedy High School of Willingboro.

He was the second high school player to be fatally injured in Mount Holly this season. The first was injured playing against Phelps' team.

Stockbridge Edges Freedom

Tom Head Scores 29 Points in Comeback Win

FREEDOM — Nine points by Tom Head in the final period sparked Stockbridge to a come-from-behind, 58-53, non-conference win over Freedom here Friday night

The Irish had surged to an 8-point advantage late in the third canto but Head, the Indians' 6-3 center, controlled the boards in the closing segment in addition to narrowing the gap with his scoring.

With just over two minutes left in the game, Freedom trailed by two points, but couldn't offset Head's heroics in the waning moments.

Prior to the 9-point spree, Head had canned 20 other markers to capture game scoring laurels with his 29-point total.

Dan Vande Wettering and Jack Renkins paced the losers with 16 and 15 markers, respectively.

3 of Last Season's 'Big 10' Quints Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alma, the Cinderella team of Wisconsin high school basketball last year, may be about to hear the clock strike midnight.

The Rivermen from the tiny school on the Mississippi drove all the way to the semifinals of the State Tournament a year ago before being stopped by Milwaukee Lincoln, the tournament champions.

But alas for Alma. John Stohr, an all-state selection and his supporting cast, have gone the graduation route.

The Rivermen, No. 1 in The Associated Press "Little Ten" ratings in 1965, got off on the right foot Friday night, but it wasn't easy.

They stopped lightly regarded Taylor 70-65 after going into the final period tied 48-48.

Meanwhile Neenah, a highly promising team that lost two overtime games in the Madison matches, opened by gunning down Oshkosh 72-52 with a 25-10 advantage in the third period.

Three Triumph

Milwaukee Lincoln, tournament champions, was idle.

Four of the "Big Ten" teams in last year's AP poll played Friday night. Three of them won.

The only victim was fourth-ranked Baraboo, which fell before Stoughton 62-60.

Eighth-ranked Appleton Xavier downed Wisconsin Rapids Assumption 61-47; ninth-ranked Platteville trimmed Dodgeville 65-47, and 10th-ranked Barron stopped Cumberland 67-48.

Fourth-ranked little school Stockbridge beat Freedom 58-53, and Orfordville, fifth-rated a year ago, stopped Argyle 59-53. Onalaska Luther, 10th-ranked, defeated LaCrosse Holy Cross 62-59.

In other games, Manitowoc, the possible power of the Fox River Valley Conference, tore apart Two Rivers 71-33. Chilton downed West DePere 79-77 in overtime. Arkansas racked up one of the night's biggest scores when it turned back Eau Claire Immanuel 100-46.

representative to within 11 points, at 53-42.

But just as quickly as the Badgers made their bid, Kaukauna shut the door for good with eight straight points and West Bend never threatened again. Vandehey got two of the important buckets, Denny Spice drove for another, and Vandenheuvel hit a long set shot. By the third quarter mark, the Ghosts had rebuilt their advantage to 75-54.

The Ghosts might have hit over 100 points for the game, but a malfunction in the scoreboard clock mid-way in the final period left officials and spectators guessing how much time actually remained. A reasonable estimate was evidently decided upon at the scorer's bench, and the last two to three minutes of the game was played without the benefit of a visible clock.

After passing their first test with flying colors, the Ghosts should get a much better indication of what lies in store this season when they take on Fox River Valley Conference member Fond du Lac on the Cardinals' home floor tonight.

He drew the most fouls of the night on his aggressive efforts around the boards but sank only five of 11 free throws.

Terry Graff clicked on three of five field attempts. His brother, Brad — the first Xavier sophomore basketball starter in five years — played a poised floor game. He missed the only shot he attempted.

Xavier's biggest lead was 15 points — at 46-31, 48-33 and 56-41.

Coach Gene (Torchy) Clark made frequent substitutions in the Xavier lineup, as he gave all of his top 10 considerable playing time. Everyone on the varsity got in before the game was over.

St. Gregory's Miller Hits 46 Points

Knights Register 78-63 Win Over Wrightstown '5'

ST. NAZIANZ — He was a Knight to remember. St. Gregory of St. Nazianz Knights' 6-1 forward Jim Miller put on a phenomenal scoring display and, together with teammate F. Gehrig led the hosts to a 78-63 triumph over Wrightstown in a non-conference opener Friday night.

Miller, despite being double-teamed, burned the nets for 46 points, while Gehrig added 25 to account for all but seven of the Knights' points.

Wrightstown grabbed an early, 17-10, lead but saw that margin vanish near the end of the second period as the Knights came to life and took a 43-36 halftime advantage. St. Gregory maintained the 7-point margin until midway through the final stanza when they broke the game open.

The Tigers had four players in double figures. Tom DeWayne and Tom VandeHey tallied 14 apiece and Karl Haefe and Tom Ribarchek chipped in with 12 markers each.

Laird's Plan Tipoff of Big Push by GOP

Republicans Plan Resurrection of 'Great Society'

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — With the election returns barely in, the aggressive House Republican leadership has already decided to resurrect a discarded Great Society scheme for a major legislative push.

The tipoff was given Thursday at the Shoreham Hotel here in a keynote address to the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders by the powerful Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican caucus. Laird's proposal: That federal income tax revenue be shared among the states.

Novak

Evans

This was, give or take some details, another version of the plan concocted in late 1964 by Walter Heller, then President Johnson's chief economic adviser, but rejected at the last minute by the President. Before that rejection, the Heller plan was noised about enough to attract widespread bi-partisan support among state and local officials.

Thus, Laird's move can be a matter of some embarrassment to the President. He rejected the Heller plan in 1964 mainly because he resented trial balloons lofted for it by Heller, which stirred controversy. Now, the plan is boomeranging back at him with wide support among Democrats as well as Republicans.

No Solo Foray

Certainly, it is more than a solo foray by Laird (who introduced a similar bill back in 1958, long before Walter Heller came to Washington). Laird brought the matter up at a private strategy session last Tuesday at the Capitol with two other members of the House Republican leadership, Minority Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan and Rep. Charles Goodell of New York. Both expressed their approval.

Moreover, tax-sharing between Washington and the states will be a major plank in the platform Gov. Romney of Michigan plans in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination (though Romney was not notified in advance of Laird's Shoreham speech).

Beyond these major personalities, scores of Republican candidates last fall campaigned for various versions of the Heller plan as a Republican solution to the complex problems of modern society: Giving local officials the money needed to produce their own solutions.

Despite the 47-seat House Republican pickup, the Laird tax-sharing proposal will likely be an attractive issue rather than completed legislation. Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, who abhors all manner of fiscal gimmickry, will surely block it in his tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Byrnes Dubious

Indeed, the senior Republican on Ways and Means — Rep. John Byrnes of Wisconsin — is deeply dubious about tax-sharing. He now is trying to draft a less politically marketable proposal that would provide federal tax relief for taxpayers in those communities that increase local taxes.

Moreover, there is some disagreement about details of tax-sharing even in the House Republican hierarchy. Laird would like to see the scheme gradually replace existing federal grants-in-aid to local government units. The more liberal Goodell likes the idea of federal grants providing incentives for local government and wants tax-sharing to replace only proposed expansion in grants.

Yet, it is likely the Republicans will come up with a unified tax-sharing plan, which is more than can be said of the Democrats. One small incident shows how sensitive President Johnson is to widespread Democratic support for the old Heller Plan.

No Resurrection

A few weeks before his disastrous campaign for a third term, Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California had a private White House audience with Mr. Johnson and pleaded with him to resurrect the Heller plan. The President's glum answer was no.

By chance, the next visitor to see Mr. Johnson was none other than Walter Heller. The irritated President promptly upbraided Heller, accusing him of priming Brown to promote the tax-sharing plan. Although the accusation was unjust, Mr. Johnson made it clear he would be happy if he never heard again of the Heller plan, what with the Viet Nam fiscal deficit growing ever larger.

Now, the House Republicans are making sure the President won't be able to forget it in the year ahead.

Judge Continues Burglary Case on Plea of Attorney

Robert C. Wohlrabe, 21, 1219 N. Lawe St., charged with three counts of burglary, had his case continued Friday, when his court-appointed attorney said there may be charges coming from other counties.

The attorney asked for adjournment to allow for possible consolidation proceedings.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller continued the case to Dec. 2 and continued bonds totaling $7,500. Wohlrabe, arrested after investigation by Appleton and Outagamie County police, is in jail in lieu of posting bonds.

He is charged with burglarizing the Saddle Shop in Dale on Aug. 26, Andrews Oil Co. in Kaukauna on Sept. 10 and South Side Service Station, Appleton, on Aug. 8.

Book Explains Sharing Of Federal-State Funds

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Look around our central cities and observe the rutted streets and crumbling curbs, the deteriorating parks and miserable housing ghettos. Study our suburbs and see the needs for school facilities, sewers, sidewalks, street lights.

Sylvia Porter

Peer beneath the Viet Nam-charged prosperity of our states and contemplate the awesome tasks facing them: a near-doubling of higher education expenditures in the next five years; the fight against air and water pollution which has only just begun; the crying demands for better hospitals.

How are our states and cities going to meet responsibilities which will exceed $120 billion a year by 1970 and which they cannot possibly finance on their own? Assuming we want strong state and local government — and we unquestionably do — on what terms can our states and cities manage to make ends meet?

Share Revenues

There is only one answer: a more generous sharing of federal revenues with our local governments in ways which will stimulate state-city growth, vitality and efficiency.

A plan to achieve this, which is based on precedent going back to the days of Andrew Jackson in 1837, and which is brilliant in its simplicity, is the heart of a highly important just published book: "New Dimensions of Political Economy" by Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and world-famous author of our 1964 tax cut. (Harvard University Press, $3.50.) Much of Heller's book covers fascinating insights into the "Age of the Economist" and the unprecedented role the economist is now playing in White House policymaking.

In an amusing anecdote, Heller recalls the violent criticism of Kennedy when in early 1963 Kennedy proposed a massive tax cut in the face of rising spending and deficits. "The President interrupted our conversation one day during that period, and said, 'Walter, I want to make it perfectly clear that I resent these attacks on you.'" Much of it is also an honest appraisal of the unwillingness of the administration to take steps in early 1966 which could have averted this year's inflation and brutal money squeeze.

Suggests Distribution

But where Heller is most eloquent — and his graceful style makes his book marvelously easy to read — is in his plea for "a revenue-sharing plan which would distribute a specified portion of the federal individual income tax to the states each year on a per capita basis, with next to no strings attached The distribution would be over and above existing and future conditional grants." Under the plan in essence, the federal government would· —Set aside and distribute to the states each year 1 to 2 per cent of the amounts reported as net taxable income by all individuals. In 1966, 2 percentage points would have yielded the states $5.6 billion The collections would go into a trust fund and the states would receive the sums as a matter of right each year.

—The states would share the proceeds on the basis of population This per capita sharing would help eliminate inequalities by transferring some funds from high-income to low-income areas.

—The states would be given nearly complete freedom in the use of their shares for the public benefit

Heller analyzes every argument against revenue-sharing and turns it into an argument for, but he stresses that it is not any particular plan for revenue-sharing that matters.

"The important thing is to be ready to move from talk to action once Viet Nam relents. to harness federal funds to state-local initiative as part of our effort to convert growth into a better life" With this book, Heller is submitting a blueprint for our growing mastery of our physical and social as well as our economic environment

The blueprint will become reality, the timing depending, as in so many other areas, on Viet Nam.

Another Holdup Try in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)— For the third time in five days, a young woman attempted a holdup on the North Side Friday afternoon.

For the second straight time, the effort was unsuccessful.

Police said the woman who tried to hold up the Goetsch insurance agency might have been the same Negro woman who took $1,954 from a bank Monday and who failed in a similar attempt at another bank Tuesday.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a thought for coffee can plastic tops:

My husband's driving license got torn and worn from keeping it in his pocket.

I cut two pieces of the plastic the size of his license, and put the license between them, then taped around the edges.

It's the cat's whiskers to keep that important paper safe and in his pocket.

Dear Heloise:

When making things from corduroy, put your pattern on the smooth side of the corduroy I learned this from a neighbor.

Heloise

Florence Thurow

* * *

That's great! It also works on velvet, velveteen or nappy wools . . .

It's much easier to get the pattern pinned on properly.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Yesterday while wiping off counter tops after doing the dishes, I was once again irritated because I was unable to get the blade of my electric can opener clean with a corner of my dish rag

I solved my problem by wetting both tips of a cotton-tipped swab with water

By using this, I was able to get into all of the cracks and crevices It is flexible enough to work with, but stiff enough to be able to push it into a corner.

Mrs. Gregory Smith

* * *

Dear Heloise:

My mother had an old claw foot bathtub which she had planned to replace with a new, expensive built-in tub

I persuaded her to let me try an idea .

I painted the outside of the tub shell pink, and with inexpensive gilt paint painted the claw feet gold.

The result was a pretty, feminine bathroom.

A Reader

* * *

Dear Folks:

As a lucky housewife, I go barefoot most of the time so don't have too much foot trouble, but the best thing I have found for tired feet is to make some good suds in a bucket of warm water, throw a bath towel on the floor in front of my favorite chair, and plop those feet in the warm water while I am watching TV or listening to the radio. Wow!

I let both feet soak until the water gets cool (and hope the phone doesn't ring in the meantime), then rub briskly with the heavy bath towel! It makes a new person out of me.

If I have the time, I cut my nails then, push back the cuticle, etc.

Happy landing on the footsies, wherever you are.

Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

When the ties come off plastic bibs, don't throw the bibs away.

Cut a long shoelace in half, and sew the cut ends to the bib.

They stay on, and are easier to tie than the original ties.

Mrs. C. Lott

* * *

Dear Heloise:

This may seem like a strange household tip, but from my observation many women should try it.

Instead of dashing some lipstick on in the morning, and letting it go at that (because "Who's going to see me anyhow?"), try taking 15 or 20 minutes and do a careful make-up job.

It's amazing how much better you feel, and even your household tasks seem easier

I also have found that with the many beauty aids available, it's quite a job to acquire skill in using them (some are very complicated), and this is a good time to do your testing and practicing.

Your Problems

Effects of Daughter's Crash Diet Disturbing to Her Mother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter who is 23 years old went on a crash diet last November. Rosalie was 5'5", weighed 130 pounds and looked just fine to me. But she said she "felt fat" and nobody could talk her out of it.

Landers

Within four months Rosalie was down to 96 pounds. The poor girl was skin and bones. When she was dieting she couldn't keep food down, and now — a year later — she still vomits almost every day.

I have cried and begged and pleaded with her to see a doctor but she says she is not sick. What do you call it when a person can't keep a meal down? This is well?

Please tell me what to do. I spoke to our family doctor and he said you can't force the girl to get help if she doesn't want it. What do you say? — Only Her Mother

Dear Only: I say your family doctor gave you excellent advice. And now may I add a word?

Stop the crying and the begging and the pleading. Perhaps Rosalie's stubborn refusal to see a doctor is related to her hostility toward you. Get off her back and she will probably seek some outside help (which she desperately needs) when she gets to feeling it is her idea and not yours.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS· I am 17, an average-looking girl with a nice personality. I've had my eye on a certain boy for a year. I'll call him Barry. Finally Barry asked me for a date and I was thrilled But it turned out to be a funny kind of an evening Barry showed up with two fellows in the car and then we picked up a third

I have gone out with Barry five times and every date is the same — no less than two other guys tagging along. Usually we just cruise around Once we all went bowling

My mother says she doesn't want me going with four and five boys because it looks terrible. I don't like the idea either because frankly I'd like to spend an evening with just Barry But I'm afraid to suggest it. What do you think? — Mob Scene

Dear Mob: A girl has the right, before she accepts a date, to ask the boy what kind of evening he has in mind. And if she doesn't want to be a den mother to four guys she should say so.

Next time, make it plain that if Barry wants to drag a friend or two, the friends should bring dates. It's apparent that Barry would rather not be alone with you, just yet — so don't push it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband retired last January and I am ready to go to work just to get out of the house and have a few hours to myself. When my friends told me that their husbands got to be a nuisance after they retired, I didn't believe them. I do now.

My husband is in good health and could do many things if he wanted to. But no, he'd rather dog my footsteps when I market, clean house and do the gardening. He even wants to come to my bridge club.

If I go where he can't go he looks hurt. Please help me. — R R.R

Dear R.R.R.: Suggest that your husband do the gardening while you do the marketing. Learn if there's a Golden Age Club in your city. He could find friends and interests there. Freedom is never free. You have to fight for it. And I hope you win because if you don't, you're sunk.

* * *

Do you feel ill at ease. . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Writer for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper. enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Curtis Smith, of Dallas, for many years one of the top experts of the United States, got ready to shed a tear as he doubled Bobby Wolff, of San Antonio, at six diamonds. It was too bad. Smith felt, that it had to be a fellow Texan that he was going to chew to pieces

Smith led the queen of spades, and Wolff won with the ace Warned by the double to expect the worst possible trump break, Wolff looked for an unusual line of play and found it.

Declarer began by leading the queen of clubs, letting it ride for a finesse He then ruffed a spade in dummy, discarded a spade on the ace of clubs, cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a club

Leads Last Spade

South led the jack of spades toward dummy, and Smith ruffed with the eight of diamonds to force out dummy's queen Declarer ruffed another club, led a heart to the king and ruffed a heart

By this time West was reduced to K-10-2 of trumps, and South held A-J-9 of trumps South led the jack of trumps, and Smith had to take the king and then return a trump from 10-2 to declarer's A-9

The hand taught Smith three valuable lessons: first, not to trust his partner's overcalls, second, not to double a slam voluntarily bid by an expert; and third, not to shed any tears for Texans — they'll take care of themselves.

Weyauwega, I-S Also Win

Waupaca Nips Marion In Final Second of CWC Opener, 43 to 41

Waupaca, Iola - Scandinavia and Weyauwega started their quest for the Central Wisconsin cage title successfully Friday night.

Terry Martin's sensational 30-foot bucket at the final horn gave Waupaca a thrilling 43-41 victory over Marion.

The Comets led at halftime, 20-17, but Marion moved out to a 9-point edge after three quarters. The Mustangs maintained their comfortable advantage with only five minutes left to play and went in to a possession — type offense.

The slow-down tactics backfired, however, and with a minute and a half remaining, Waupaca tied the score, 39-39. The Comets went ahead 41-39, but with a minute left Marion knotted the score at 41-41. Waupaca waited for a last second shot, and Martin rippled the nets as the horn blew.

Marion's Tom Jolin paced all shooters with 16 points. Dan Peterson led Waupaca with 12.

Lead by Nine

Iola withstood a spirited third quarter Wittenberg rally to defeat the Wildcats, 65-62. The Thunderbirds led at half, 32-34, but were deadlocked at 34-34 before moving ahead by nine at the end of the third period.

Wittenberg battled back late in the final eight minutes, but never came closer than its 3-point margin of defeat.

Chuck Koehler and Wayne Skowen paced Iola with 23 and 15 points, respectively. Jim Stoltenberg rimmed 19 and Jerry Annonson added 12 to pace Wittenberg.

Weyauwega raced to a 30-12 halftime advantage and was never in trouble thereafter, en route to a loosely-played, 57-44, win over Amherst's.

Tom Rohde paced the Indians' scoring attack with 19 points, followed by Bill Warnke and Bill Oehlke with 11 each.

Pat Docka with 12 markers sparked the losers.

No Objection to Rerouting

State 26 Relocation Will Be Further South of Port

OSHKOSH — There apparently will be no problems in designating a new right-of-way for relocating State 26 around the Winnebago County airport as long as the county will pay for the land.

This was the consensus Thursday after a joint meeting between the Winnebago County Highway and Aviation Committees, District Highway Engineer LeRoy Empey and State Highway Commission Engineer William Paul.

Empey said he did not think the State Highway Commission would have any objections to moving the rerouting farther south as long as it did not involve reworking the State 26 - U.S. 41 interchange and would provide a controlled access highway.

The aviation committee had objected to plans to relocate State 26 about one-half mile south of the end of the planned new north - south runway on grounds that future expansion of the runway would result in another relocation of the highway.

Supv. Alvin Pinckley, Oshkosh, a member of the aviation committee, said it is possible they may have to add another 1,000 feet to the new runway in the "foreseeable" future, plus a 1,000 foot overrun for added safety for jet takeoffs.

Pinckley said he based this on recent reports that the gross weight of the DC-9 jet, which North Central Airlines will put into service sometime next year, has been increased to 113,000 pounds, 15,000 more than the current weight.

A runway longer than the 6,700 feet planned for the new north-south runway may be needed, Pinckley said.

Adding 1,000 feet to the runway, plus 1,000 feet of overrun, would bring the runway to about 500 feet from the planned new route of State 26.

Land Acquisition

Empey said there would be no problems from an engineering standpoint to moving the highway another one-quarter mile south but land acquisition would be somewhat more expensive because more farms would be divided by the road. Right-of-way acquisition has been estimated at $37.000 for the present route.

Paul said the State Aeronautics Commission had no technical objections to the present rerouting plans but agreed a route farther south might be wiser.

Empey again rejected plans to relocate State 26 across Fisk Avenue, another one-quarter mile south, because it could not be turned into a controlled access road. He also rejected suggestions to buy right-of-way adjacent to Fisk Avenue because land cost would be higher and it would require rebuilding the U.S. 41 interchange.

The district highway engineer said he did not think a new public hearing would be necessary to move the routing farther south.

Commission engineers will come up with a new routing a minimum of 1,000 feet farther south to submit to the state highway commission.

Brillion Jaycettes Discuss Mental Health Association

BRILLION — George W. Erb, field representative for the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health, Madison, spoke to the Brillion Jaycettes Wednesday night about starting a Calumet County association.

Erb told the group they need to get the backing of area people. A Calumet chapter could work co-operatively with other chapters, he said.

Prime purpose of a mental health association is to inform people of the symptoms of mental illness so that cases can be detected and treated in early stages. He said most patients are able to leave mental hospitals within 60 days now because of this early detection and treatment.

Fewer in Hospitals

A steady decrease in populations at state hospitals has been apparent since tranquilizers were put on the market in the early 1950's, he said.

The number of mental health association chapters has grown in two years from 21 to more than 50.

Erb stated that mental illness is one of the top four afflictions in the United States.

The Jaycettes took no formal action, after a discussion.

The group will serve a chili supper to Jaycees and their wives following the installation of downtown Christmas decorations Nov. 27.

Members also voted to donate $10 to Sinkie Bahiru, the foreign exchange student.

Help Students

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, hosts to last year's foreign exchange student from Viet Nam, will send another box of clothing and food to the boy after Thanksgiving. The Jaycettes voted to donate $5 to help pay postage.

An American Field Service fund raising "cake walk" will be conducted at the Brillion-Denmark wrestling match Dec. 15 at the high school. Five members of the Jaycettes will provide cakes, as will other city service clubs and members of the Faculty Wives.

A 21-year-old Lawrence student, object of a police chase across the university campus early Thursday was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail after being found guilty of a disorderly conduct charge.

Carrying Ladder

Appleton police said they were patroling near E. College Avenue and N. Drew Street about 1:45 a.m. Thursday when they observed two youths carrying a ladder. The youths fled when police ordered them to stop. They dropped the ladder.

A patrolman said he chased Van Dusen around the campus and finally located him hiding in bushes. Van Dusen reportedly gave police a false name, address and age when he was questioned at the police station.

The student said he had been drinking.

Judge Keller set bond Thursday morning at $1,000 and recommended to a university official, who accompanied the student to court, that the university not attempt to furnish bond.

Appleton Post Office Waits Only for Selection of Site

Byrnes Is Assured Construction Proposals Are Already Approved

Once a site has been picked for the new Appleton post office, completion of the facility will be expedited, it was disclosed Friday.

Eighth District Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, said he received the assurance from Joseph P. Doherty, executive assistant to the assistant postmaster general at Washington.

Earlier in the month, U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wisconsin, said during a visit to the Fox Cities Appleton's request for a new post office, replacing the 36-year-old building at Washington and Superior Streets, has been approved by the U.S. Postal Department.

Contacts Authorities

Byrnes has been in contact with postal authorities and sought additional information from Doherty as to how the Appleton project was proceeding.

"A proposal for new construction, submitted by our Minneapolis regional office, has been reviewed in this bureau and approved," Doherty wrote.

He said building a new post office here would not require congressional authorization since it will be developed through the postal department's leasing program.

A new post office at Neenah was constructed under a similar arrangement, and the same is scheduled when plans are completed for a new facility at Oshkosh.

No Red Tape

Congressional authorization usually consists of red tape and takes longer to get a project underway

While Doherty informed Byrnes that a schedule has not been determined he did say, "I assure you that the new postal facility for Appleton will be completed as quickly as possible."

Shortly after the original announcement was made, Byrnes checked with the office of the assistant postmaster, who directs the bureau of facilities.

At the time Byrnes wanted to have positive confirmation the new building had been approved, and inquired when the site selection process will begin, plans drawn and project advertised for bidding.

Byrnes also wanted to know the target date for completion and occupancy.

In a recent appearance in this area, Postmaster General John O'Brien said at a news conference the sites for Oshkosh and Appleton post offices may be selected by Jan. 1.

Search for a site will be carried out by the real estate branch of the regional office of the U.S. Postal Department at Minneapolis

Francis Sumnicht, Appleton postmaster, said today that data and other information concerning present and projected postal volumes for the Appleton area were sent to Minneapolis some time ago.

Sumnicht said all information was processed and postal officials have decided on the size of the site and the building.

Tridistrict Merger Committee Forms

Eye Single School in Calumet

BRILLION — All phases of a possible merger of the Hilbert, Stockbridge and Brillion school districts will be studied by a nine-man committee formed here Thursday.

The committee consists of the three school superintendents and two representatives from each school board. Its initial meeting will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1, in Hilbert.

Included in the study will be the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed merger and a consideration of the type of format to be used in presenting information to residents of the three districts.

The committee was formed at the same time Cooperative Education Service Agency 10 (CESA) was asked to delay action on the petition for detachment of a portion of the Stockbridge district and attachment to the Chilton district.

CESA's decision on the petition was expected to be announced Nov. 28.

Talk of possibly building a centrally located high school to serve Stockbridge, Hilbert and Brillion began in September just after the detachment petition was filed and just after a $1.35 million school bond referendum vote was defeated, 770-340, at Brillion.

An attempt to offer better educational facilities enabling the students in this area to compete with graduates of larger schools, crowded classrooms at Hilbert and Brillion and possible future influx of some parochial school students at all three schools, prompted the merger talks in September.

Treatment Facility Grants Get Cutback

23 State Municipalities Asked To Cut Requests 33 Per Cent

MADISON (AP) — Twenty-three Wisconsin municipalities eligible for federal grants for construction of waste treatment facilities have been asked by the state to apply for only one-third of their allotted amounts.

Theodore F. Wisniewski, acting director of the water resource division, said today 10 communities have agreed to the request.

$750,000 Projert

Kaukauna, with a $750,000 project in the mill to update its sewage treatment facilities, is among the 10 communities agreeing to the request

Authorities said today the original Kaukauna request for federal grants totaled $210,000. With the cutback, the city will receive $70,000. The remainder will be applied for when funds are available.

He told the Board of Resource Development that all of the communities would have the chance to reapply for the additional sum over the next two years.

Stretch Funds

Wisniewski said the move was taken so the state would stretch the $1.8 million available. Each municipality is eligible for 30 per cent of construction costs under the federal program. But only seven or eight of them could start work on their projects this year if they received a full share.

The 23 municipalities must be ranked on a priority basis before the federal government will release the funds. Wisniewski said this probably would be done by mid-December.

K-C Sales, Earnings Show 5th Straight Record Quarter

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corporation today reported record sales and earnings for both the second quarter ended October 31 and for the year to date.

Second quarter sales were $176,484,000 and earnings were $11,640,000, equal to $1.14 a share, compared with sales of $157,459,000 and earnings of $10,315,000, equal to $1.01 a share, during the same quarter of last year.

It was the fifth consecutive quarter in which the company's earnings have set a record.

Totals for the first six months of fiscal 1966 show sales of $337,907,000 and earnings of $21,601,000 equal to $2.12 a share, compared with $298,961,000 and earnings of $17,865,000, equal to $1.75 a share for the first half of 1965.

President John R. Kimberly reported that demand for the company's products continues strong, and that all Kimberly-Clark manufacturing operations are running at full capacity.

Kimberly said that on a cash basis, expenditures for capital items may run as high as $75 million in the present fiscal year, a considerable increase over the $46 million reported for fiscal 1965. Most of this money will be spent on two major projects, he said. They are construction of the first stages of a new pulp and paper facility at Beech Island, S.C., and installation of a fourth paper machine and related equipment at the company's Coosa River (Ala.) Newsprint Division.

The Beech Island Mill, which will initially produce the company's branded tissue products, is planned as one of Kimberly-Clark's major installations.

Kimberly said proceeds from the sale in late September of $45 million principal amount of 25-year sinking fund debentures will be added to general funds to finance the expansion projects.

He said that suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit will have "little impact" on capital spending for the current fiscal year.

Feud Over E. College Avenue Extension

Appleton Asks Highway Funds Audit

Counteracting claims that Appleton has delayed the E. College Avenue extension project, the Appleton Council has requested an audit of Outagamie County Highway Commission expenditures over the past 10 years.

A resolution refuting allegations made recently by "various county committees and officials," and calling for the audit of county funds, was adopted earlier in the week by the council under a special order of business.

City Clerk Elden Broehm has forwarded a copy of the resolution to the Outagamie County Board.

The purpose of the audit, city officials say, is to determine the amount of commission funds that have been expended within the corporate limits of Appleton compared to expenditures outside the city.

Pay 50 Per Cent

Appleton taxpayers pay about 50 per cent of the annual Outagamie County tax levy which this year amounted to $8.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation on the local tax rate.

The contention is the commission has been discriminating against Appleton when it comes to purchases of right-of-way for state-federal projects handled through the county.

City officials have been more than unhappy with the position taken by County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson on what Appleton's financial obligation is toward the College Avenue extension.

The extension is supposed to be a secondary link to the Tri-County Expressway and will stretch from Appleton to just south of Kaukauna.

Purchase Right of Way

Where city and county officials are mainly at odds on the project is the stand by the commission and Brownson that Appleton should be expected to purchase the necessary right-of-way for the highway within the city.

City officials contend this is a digression from commission policy. They claim the county, as a result, is discriminating against Appleton because it has been purchasing rights-of-way in some communities and not others.

In its resolution, the city outlined the various official actions it has taken in conjunction with recommendations made by the county.

The city informed the county board that:

Details Record

—On Nov. 17, 1965 the city, at the request of the commission, adopted a resolution pertaining to the addition of certain highways to the federal aid secondary system.

—On June 30, 1966, city officials requested to be advised by the county highway committee of all actions required of the city council in connection with certain highway improvements, namely E. College Avenue extended.

—City officials met with the county highway committee on Aug. 22 and were advised that the county was buying right-of-way for certain highway improvements beyond the corporate limits of the Villages of Kimberly and Combined Locks and the Cities of Kaukauna and Appleton.

County officials also told the Appleton delegation, over its protest, that the city would be expected to purchase right-of-way for the X-way link within the city.

Sponsor Resolution

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), council president and chairman of the city's street-sanitation committee, had the city's 20 aldermen sponsor the resolution Wednesday night.

Pointer said he wanted to make the record clear that Appleton "has been the moving force in planning for the Tri-County expressway."

Pointer said it was time for the city to inform the entire county board of what policies are being carried out by the commission, resulting in alleged discrimination against Appleton.

"We have cooperated 100 per cent," Pointer said, "but we did not think it right to have to put $139,000 in our 1967 budget to purchase right-of-way which the county should be acquiring."

Clear The Air

Some alderman and other city officials recalled that in 1965 there appeared to be apprehension on Bronson's part to move on the planning for the East College extension and a special meeting was called to "clear the air."

The next round will be the county board's reaction to the resolution and request for an audit of highway department expenditures during the past decade.

Supv. Ervin Conradt, rural Shiocton, recently blamed the city for "stalling the College Avenue extension." He is also a member of the state assembly, representing the Outagamie 3rd District, which includes the northern tier of wards in Appleton.

It was Conrad's charge, made at a county board meeting, that triggered the city's strong reaction.
